14 Years in County Legislature

Mabie Won't Seek Reelection to Post

ESOPUS Democratic Minority Leader of the Ulster County Legislature, Roger Mabie announced today that he will not seek reelection in November. Mabie holds the distinction of having served the county on the old Board of Supervisors and the present Legislative Board for 14 years, longer than any present member of the 33-man group.

Minority leader for six years, he told The Freeman that he feels "it is possible to stay too long. . . . There should be changes in leadership which should occur periodically," he suggested.

Mabie said he is also not seeking another term due to several non-political projects he would like to work on.

Asked if he would consider returning to the political scene at a later date, he replied, "I wouldn't say I wouldn't but I'm not interested at this time.

Mabie has often been mentioned as a possible Assembly candidate.

The first Democrat elected as supervisor in Esopus in 40 years, he was honored at a testimonial dinner in 1969 for his service to the town as a supervisor and as a representative of Dist. 7 which includes the Towns of Esopus and Rosendale.

The sponsor of many pieces of legislation, Mabie found it difficult to get the Republican-controlled Legislature to act favorably on them with many being referred to committee.

Never-the-less, he is greatly admired on both sides of the aisle for his quick and discerning wit as well as his leadership abilities.

Special

Perhaps one of his most successful political moves was getting approval of the appointment of the late Democrat John C. Quimby to the Board of Trustees of Ulster County Community College. Quimby later became president of the board.

A marketing specialist for Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, in Poughkeepsie, Mabie attended elementary school in Port Ewen, Kingston High School and received his BS from Syracuse University and MBA from Harvard Business School.

A lieutenant commander, he served with the U.S. Navy from 1941-45.

Active in community affairs, Mabie is a trustee of Kingston Savings Bank, director Ulster County Home for the Aged, past director Mid Hudson Catskills Nature Museum, Perrine's Bridge Committee, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, Kingston YMCA, D&H Canal Society. Also, past commander, Town of Esopus American Legion Post 1298; scoutmaster, Boy Scout Troop 26; trustee, Ulster County Association for Mental Health.

Newburgh Area Barricaded After Day of Disturbances

(Combined Wire Services) NEWBURGH, N. Y. — A city's only public high school. It has about 2,100 pupils. Tension had been building since last week, newsmen said, ed overnight after a day of because of the cancellation of sporadic disturbances Monday Class Day activities and incidents that resulted in a dozen arrests and injuries to several persons. Administrator E.G. Gooby of St. Luke's Hospital, according to the administrator, treated the persons treated at the hospital emergency room suffered minor gunshot wounds, apparently not inflicted by police bullets.

The trouble began early in the afternoon after students were released from examinations at the hospital. The victim suffered a concussion, he said.

He said the majority had white and that they were young lacerations, but that one was at- tacked by tear gas.

Police in the predominate Negro section cordoned off men said, while others were in- jured scuffling with police.

State Police were on stand-by. "I don't think it is a racial thing," said the police lieutenant.

Some observers, however, disagreed with him. Gooby, queried about the cause of the disturbances said, "I really don't know — I can't explain it."

Gooby said those treated at the hospital were about evenly divided between black and

Fourteen persons were re- ported arrested in connection with the disturbances. Police said their arrest list for the en- tire day showed 21, but several were due to other reasons.

The outbursts Monday follow- ed similar, though somewhat smaller, disturbances Friday when groups of young people, apparently upset over cancella- tion of a high school play be- gan roaming through the east side of this city of about 32,000 persons.

Acting City Court Judge Al- bert S. McDowell declared a state of insurrection and ex- plained that he did so to allow police to keep those arrested in jail overnight without bail.

A spokesman for the school system said final examinations at the high school would be con- tinued today.

As a cause of the trouble, newsmen cited a dispute over the annual senior night play at the high school, Newburgh Free Academy.

Two acts of the play were cancelled last week because the play ran too long, the school administration said. Both cancell- ed acts had an all-black cast.

The cancellation was announce- ed at a student assembly Fri- day, and the senior class offi- cers decided to cancel Friday night's entire program on grounds the show was not up to the quality the students had an- ticipated.

Esopus Committee Opposes Uptown Flood Project

By LYNN MULVANEY KINGSTON A charge of "preferential treatment" for the owners of the Kingston Plaza was lodged today by County Legislator Richard D. Nace (R-Dist. 2) who said that the Lower Esopus Waterways Committee "is not in favor of the uptown flood control project" as announced by the office of Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr.

On Monday Fish's office said that the Army Corps of Engineers had approved an appropriation of $1,270,000 for work on the east bank of the Esopus Creek in the City of Kingston running generally from Rt. 28 to Col. Chandler Drive. The plaza is located in this area.

Today Nace said the committee is against the project "unless it includes protection for all residents living along both sides of the stream from Hurley to Saugerties — not just one shopping center."

He pointed out that the Kingston Shopping Plaza was built "after the floods of 1951 and 1955."

The Lower Esopus Waterways Committee and residents living along the Esopus have been trying almost 20 years to get flood protection for their homes, he explained, "but we have been repeatedly told it is not economically feasible."

But, he added, "in the meantime $5 to $6 million has been spent on the Rosendale Flood Control Project and $2 to $3 million has been approved for Ellenville's flood control project."

Nace said that as far as he can ascertain neither of these projects has as many people involved as are involved along the Esopus which has been flooded out twice.

He said that the committee and residents have contacted all of their government representatives in the past few years but have had no success in getting action on their complaints.

Now, he said "We are asking all our representatives why some people get preferential treatment and we get no consideration at all? We are going to ask it of U. S. Senator Jacob Javits and James Buckley, Congressmen Fish, State Sen. Jay P. Rolison and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell."

Nace also said it is the committee's understanding that the Kingston Common Council is not in favor of the project because "it is going to cost the city and state residents close to $300,000."

The Town of Ulster legislator also indicated that he had learned from local conservationists that if protection is given the flood plain area in the City of Kingston it will increase the flow of water in the direction of Saugerties creating increased flood problems to homes lining the waterway for many miles. In making the announcement of the appropriation for the Kingston project, Fish's office said that the project will consist of levees, flood walls, a ponding area pumping station and interior draining facilities.

Fish's office said the project is designed to protect the large shopping center near the creek as well as Urban Renewal projects under construction nearby.

Under the law, $1 million of the $1,270,000 project will be supplied by the federal government with the state and local governments responsible for the remainder.

Approved by the New York State Council on Environmental Quality, the project now needs approval by the President's Council on Environmental Quality.

In making his complaint today, Nace recalled that in October of 1970 he appealed to Fish to look into the feasibility of a flood control program for all of the Lower Esopus Creek "rather than just one dike to protect the shopping plaza which was built after the floods and with the knowledge that it was flood- able property."

New Violence Flares In Albuquerque Strife

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A rash of fires, many of which city officials said were touched off by fire bombs, burned in widely scattered areas of Albuquerque early today after violence flared anew between authorities and crowds of young people.

Two days of disorders in this desert city of 300,000 left 15 persons wounded by gunfire, more than 250 persons arrested, police equipment destroyed and businesses looted and burned. Fire damage was unofficially estimated at almost $3 million.

The disturbances were touched off Sunday when police attempted to arrest some young people in crowded Roosevelt Park for public drinking.

At the height of the renewed violence Monday afternoon police, state troopers and National Guardsmen routed a cursing, missile-hurling crowd from the park.

Young people massed in the park hurled gasoline bombs and other missiles at the police and guardsmen, who responded with tear gas and a charge that sent most of the crowd in retreat. Police made 100 arrests.

The confrontation came at police patrolled city streets but the clash at the park and marching young people earlier Monday Sunday night. Ray Kuhn, city New Mexico campus.

One young man was shot in the back by police in the campus area, police said. He since 6 p.m., he said. The only major blaze was reported at an apartment construction site on the outskirts of the city.

Asked if it was a confirmed New fire bombing, he replied: "I don't think we're in a position to say, but we are suspicious."

Unlike Sunday night's disorders, he said, "We've had no problems with molesters" hampering firefighting efforts.

He declined to make an official estimate of fire damage but said it likely would approach $3 million.

Fourteen persons, including a policeman, were treated for gunshot wounds Sunday night. Two patrol cars were overturned and burned and the roving young people marched into the downtown area. They threw rocks and other missiles, broke windows and stoned police headquarters. Police arrested 150 and city officials clamped on a 1 a.m.-6 a.m. curfew.

Valued at $650,000

Art Collection for UCCC

STONE RIDGE An art collection valued at more than $650,000 and containing the works of such diverse artists as Grandma Moses and Andy Warhol has been donated to Ulster County Community College.

Many of the works are from the multi-million dollar collection of the late Haviland DeWitt and include two paintings by the late Sir Winston Churchill plus works by Jackson Pollack, Roy Lichtenstein and Andrew Wyeth.

The collection is donated by Miss Margaret Jane DeWitt and Mark H. DeWitt of St. Tropez, France, and by John Simone of New Paltz. DeWitt and his sisters, former residents of Kingston, are the children of Mrs. Mary DeWitt and the late Haviland DeWitt.

Simone's works are represented in the collection also with several sculptures and paintings from his Portraits, Wildflower and Landscape series. Simone, the son of Mrs. Crystal Simone and the late Julius Simone, is a student at UCCC.

A reception for the formal presentation will be held later this fall in New York. Attendance will be by invitation only.

Dr. George B. Erbstein, college president, today commented on the donation saying "We have learned with enormous pleasure and pride that the DeWitt, DeWitt and Simone collection of art is to be presented to Ulster County Community College."

"We are delighted to receive this splendid gift which we hope will serve as a nucleus for a first rate collection of art works that will immeasurably enhance not only our campus but the cultural life of Ulster County as a whole."

Dr. Erbstein added that the community will share in "this extraordinary opportunity to enjoy and learn from these masterpieces."

He concluded that "our deepest appreciation is due" the donors of the remarkable collection.

CSEA Leaders Still Vow Statewide Strike Thursday

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Union leaders for 140,000 state workers vowed today to carry out their threatened statewide strike at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, despite a lack of enthusiasm from some rank and file members.

With the strike deadline less than 36 hours away, no further meetings had been scheduled between the Rockefeller administration and the Civil Service Employees Association, which called the walkout to protest firings of 8,300 state workers in an economy move.

"The strike is on, barring any further developments," a CSEA spokesman said.

He reported CSEA field staff visited Albany Monday to relay last-minute strike plans to local chapters. Most of the picket signs are already made, he said.

The organization moved to bolster its support Monday by announcing that leaders of 90,000 local government employees in CSEA's County Division would support the strike.

But in Buffalo, Joseph C. Maiore, head of the CSEA city unit, said the city's 1,400 workers would cross picket lines.

The city workers, he said, "have a fair contract." He said, however, CSEA members employed by Erie County probably would support the state action. Erie County CSEA officials attacked Maiore's statement as "disloyal."

No progress was reported after a meeting Sunday between CSEA President Theodore Wenzl and State Operations Director T. Norman Hurd.

The CSEA has been demanding assurances that the cutbacks will not be as severe as the 8,300 firings announced two months ago.

The only official report, several weeks ago, was that only 5,200 "pink slips" had been handed out at that time. Both sides denied a report last Saturday that 2,100 of those fired had been reinstated, most on a temporary basis.

Meanwhile, the CSEA spokesman said he expected those working shifts early Thursday would either leave their jobs or not show up.

Wenzl has conceded there is little enthusiasm for the strike among the 24,000 office workers in Albany.

"But you don't need an overwhelmingly large percentage to set up effective picket lines and keep the others from crossing," the CSEA spokesman said. He declined to say if pickets would keep other CSEA members from entering offices, hospitals and other facilities.

The strike militancy is sharpest among the 55,000 workers in Mental Hygiene facilities, where the cutbacks were the most severe.

In a closing effort to rally members and explain to the public, the CSEA has bought radio spot advertisements at 35 stations across the state.

The spokesman said more than $50,000 had been appropriated for the broadcast effort.

Otisville — A New Delay

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Another delay in the planned strike at the Otisville Training School for Boys was announced early today.

Robert Redifer, chairman of the Civil Service Employees Association at the school, said the strike had again been called off pending an announcement from him sometime this afternoon.

The strike, which once had been set for Monday and then cancelled, was called to protest working and safety conditions at the school.

Redifer said the local CSEA officials would have more consultation with state officials during the morning.

The union is protesting work conditions at the school which it claims is understaffed and overcrowded.

A CSEA representative said the staff would strike until conditions were improved.

Other CSEA chapters have scheduled a strike Wednesday night to protest budget reductions that resulted in loss of 8,250 state jobs.

Otisville got 139 new charges in May when the nearby New Hampton Training School was closed in the budget squeeze.

Hill defended the boys at the school and said that there have been no recent reports of fighting, disrespect or runaways.

Five boys left the school last week after allegedly assaulting a supervisor and taking his car. They were apprehended after an automobile accident.

Hill asked for positive support from the community and said of the boys, "they're not the ogres that many people have been making them out to be."

JOHN V. LINDSAY

Lindsay Trims $$$, But No Layoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has reduced his proposed budget for the city by $377 million to $8.75 billion, causing an expected loss of 19,333 jobs but no actual layoffs.

"We're right at the hairline where it's possible for us to avoid layoffs," Budget Director Edward K. Hamilton said Monday in a briefing on the proposal.

But the avoidance of layoffs assumes that the mayor's proposal will be accepted more or less intact by the City Council and the Board of Estimate.

With members of those bodies talking of slashing the budget further, the administration is unwilling to give an ironclad guarantee against layoffs that would be made late in the fiscal year 1971-72.

The 19,333 positions set for elimination consist of 5,013 vacant jobs to be abolished and an estimated 14,320 jobs to go unfilled after they are vacated through attrition—deaths, retirements and resignations.

The reduction in Lindsay's original $9.13 billion "survival budget" reflects the action of the state legislature in authorizing only part of Lindsay's request for new taxing power.

While the mayor asked for authorization to impose $896 million in new taxes, the legislature approved $525 million, plus $100 million in increased federal aid guaranteed by Albany and $87 million saved by deferring payments into the teachers' retirement system.

Of the $377 million cut from the budget, only some $50 million is accounted for by the elimination of jobs.

Besides the $87 million deferred payment, Lindsay proposed postponing a payment of $81 million to the city "rainy day," or contingency fund and $35 million in social security payments for city employees.

Reduction in state and federal support for welfare, Medicaid and other programs decreased the amount the city had to produce in matching funds.

Attrition is expected to eliminate jobs in the following areas: Police, 1,300; fire, 360; sanitation, 960; education, 4,580; health and hospitals, 620; social services, 1,000; and another 500 in the miscellaneous category.

Justice Department to Seek Injunction If...

MELVIN R. LAIRD

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department said today it will seek an injunction against the New York Times if the newspaper refused to stop publication of a secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam War. The government charged that the articles violate the Espionage Act.

The Times in a front page story in today's edition said it would not voluntarily halt publication, "believing that it is in the interest of this country to be informed of the material contained in this series of articles."

The Times began publishing the Pentagon report, ordered by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in 1967, in Sunday's editions. A second installment was printed Monday and a third today.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell asked the Times in a telegram not to publish any more of the series and told the newspaper publication was directly prohibited by provisions of the Espionage Act.

Mitchell said the information contained in the series had top secret classification and further publication would harm the defense interests of the United States.

The government said Monday the report—which quotes from secret strategy meetings, diplomatic cables and military directives—contains highly sensitive information even though it deals with the period before 1968.

A Justice Department spokesman said Harding Bancroft, Times executive vice president, asked what the government position would be if publication continued.

The department would seek to enforce all applicable statutes and would seek an injunction to prevent further publication of the information, said Assistant Attorney General Robert Mardian, in charge of the Internal Security Division. The department did not say when such action would be taken.

The Pentagon study, which runs 40 volumes and took a year to complete, details U.S. involvement in Indochina from the Truman administration to the Johnson administration. It details a deeper and deeper commitment in Vietnam through the years and states that several policy decisions did not correspond with official public statements. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird asked the Justice Department Monday to find out who leaked the report to the Times. A Pentagon spokesman indicated that person might be prosecuted.

...Times Declines Request

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times say that despite the threat of injunction it "must respectfully decline" a Justice Department request to halt the publication of a secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam War.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell asked the newspaper in a telegram Monday evening to refrain from further publication of the documents on the ground that it will cause "irreparable injury to the defense interests of the United States."

The telegram arrived about an hour after Robert C. Marshall, assistant attorney general in charge of the internal security division, conveyed the department request to Harding F. Bancroft, executive vice president of the Times.

Mardian said that if the Times did not accede "the government would seek to enforce all applicable statutes, including seeking an injunction to stop further publication," a Justice Department spokesman said.

The secret documents are part of a three-year-old, 40-volume study of how the United States became involved in Indochina war. The third installment of the series appeared in today's editions of the Times.

Replied to Mitchell, the Times said in a statement that it "must respectfully decline the request of the attorney general, believing that it is in the interest of the people of this country to be informed of the material contained in this series of articles."

Regarding a possible injunction, the statement said, "We believe that is properly a matter for the courts to decide."

The Times will oppose any request for an injunction for the same reason that led us to publish the articles in the first place.

Goldwater Reveals Proposal to Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says he suggested to former President Lyndon B. Johnson during the 1964 White House campaign they jointly tell the American people the Vietnam war would have to be widened with bombing and troops—no matter who won the presidency.

Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, said if Johnson had agreed, had "leveled with the American people" about the war, "he would have beaten me worse."

As it was, Johnson won in the nation's greatest landslide, with nearly 43 million votes to Goldwater's 27 million.

Goldwater disclosed his 1964 proposal in an interview Monday after the New York Times published a report indicating the Johnson administration agreed Sept. 7, 1964—during the campaign—that it probably would be necessary to bomb North Vietnam early in 1964.

Among considerations in that timing, the study said, was that "the President was in the midst of an election campaign in which he was presenting himself as the candidate of reason and restraint as opposed to the quixotic Barry Goldwater."

Goldwater said he knew even before his formal campaign began that North Vietnam would be bombed eventually and at least 500,000 American troops would have to be sent to South Vietnam.

Goldwater, who left his Arizona Senate seat to run for the White House and was elected for the Senate again in 1968, said his knowledge of the outlook in South Vietnam came not from the Johnson administration, but from his own contacts.

"I knew that there were plans being made for expansion of the war..." he said. "By putting two and two together, we came up with pretty much of a scenario of what Johnson was going to do."

"I would have opened my mouth. I was being pictured as bomb-happy. I was on the short end and I knew it. But to talk about it, I would have had to use secret information... And, frankly, who would have believed me? So I kept my mouth shut."

Goldwater said he does not regret his decision. He said his election showing would have been better—although the outcome would not have been changed—had he disclosed in the campaign what he knew to be the likely course of the administration.

"But I couldn't have lived with myself," he said.

N. Viet Forces Ambush American Unit

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces ambushed an American unit 42 miles north-east of Saigon Monday and shelled an American position just below the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Command announced.

A communique said four U.S. soldiers and nine North Vietnamese were killed and eight Americans were wounded in the fighting northeast of Saigon.

A hail of rocket grenades, small-arms fire and a claymore mine spewing out hundreds of steel pellets ripped through troops from the 3rd Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry Division, as they were sweeping near Xuan Loc. Artillery and helicopter gunships firing rockets broke up the ambush.

Four miles south of the DMZ, North Vietnamese gunners slammed 15 mortar shells into troops of the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division. The U.S. Command said some Americans were wounded, but there were no deaths.

In the central highlands, South Vietnamese forces reported a second day of heavy fighting at Fire Base 5, which has been under siege for three weeks.

Saigon headquarters said South Vietnamese paratroopers, planes and artillery killed 68 North Vietnamese and destroyed 128 bunkers in a series of clashes northeast of the DMZ.

The headquarters said there were no South Vietnamese casualties.

The American Hawk, a 7,900-ton freighter, was badly damaged early today by an explosion as Korean workers were unloading it at Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon. The explosion was believed due to an underwater mine planted on the hull of the ship by Viet Cong frogmen.

Pair of Reversals on Vietnam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Southerners, both long-time backers of the U.S. efforts in Vietnam, reversed their positions today and called for total U.S. withdrawal from the war.

Sens. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., and B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., issued unequivocal calls for the withdrawal of all American forces.

Jordan said Monday he would vote for the Vietnam disengagement act Wednesday. The legislation would require an end to U.S. combat in Indochina by Dec. 31.

Talmadge said he could not vote for the measure on constitutional grounds. But, in a speech prepared for delivery today, he denounced the war as a drain on U.S. manpower and resources and implored President Nixon from the floor of this Senate to negotiate a release of our prisoners and announce a policy of complete and total disengagement to begin now, and to terminate one year from today.

"The American people," Talmadge said, "are weary to the bone and fed up with this ill-conceived conflict. It has placed a dangerous drain on a precious reservoir which we once thought bottomless—the unity of spirit and purpose which has made this nation great."

"Americans have reached the end of their patience. There is a rising tide of sentiment in our land against this war. We have honored our commitment to the South Vietnamese many times over, at a cost which is staggering. Families are shattered and torn apart by the war and the ideological divisions it has created."

Talmadge said he could not support the end-the-war amendment because the date for withdrawal is the President's prerogative "and his alone" under the Constitution.

"But, let no one interpret my vote as an endorsement of the prolonging of this war," he said. "The administration's policy of Vietnamization is dragging... it is time to put an end to this cruel and unusual war which we have never tried to win, and which is tearing at the basic fabric that holds this country together."

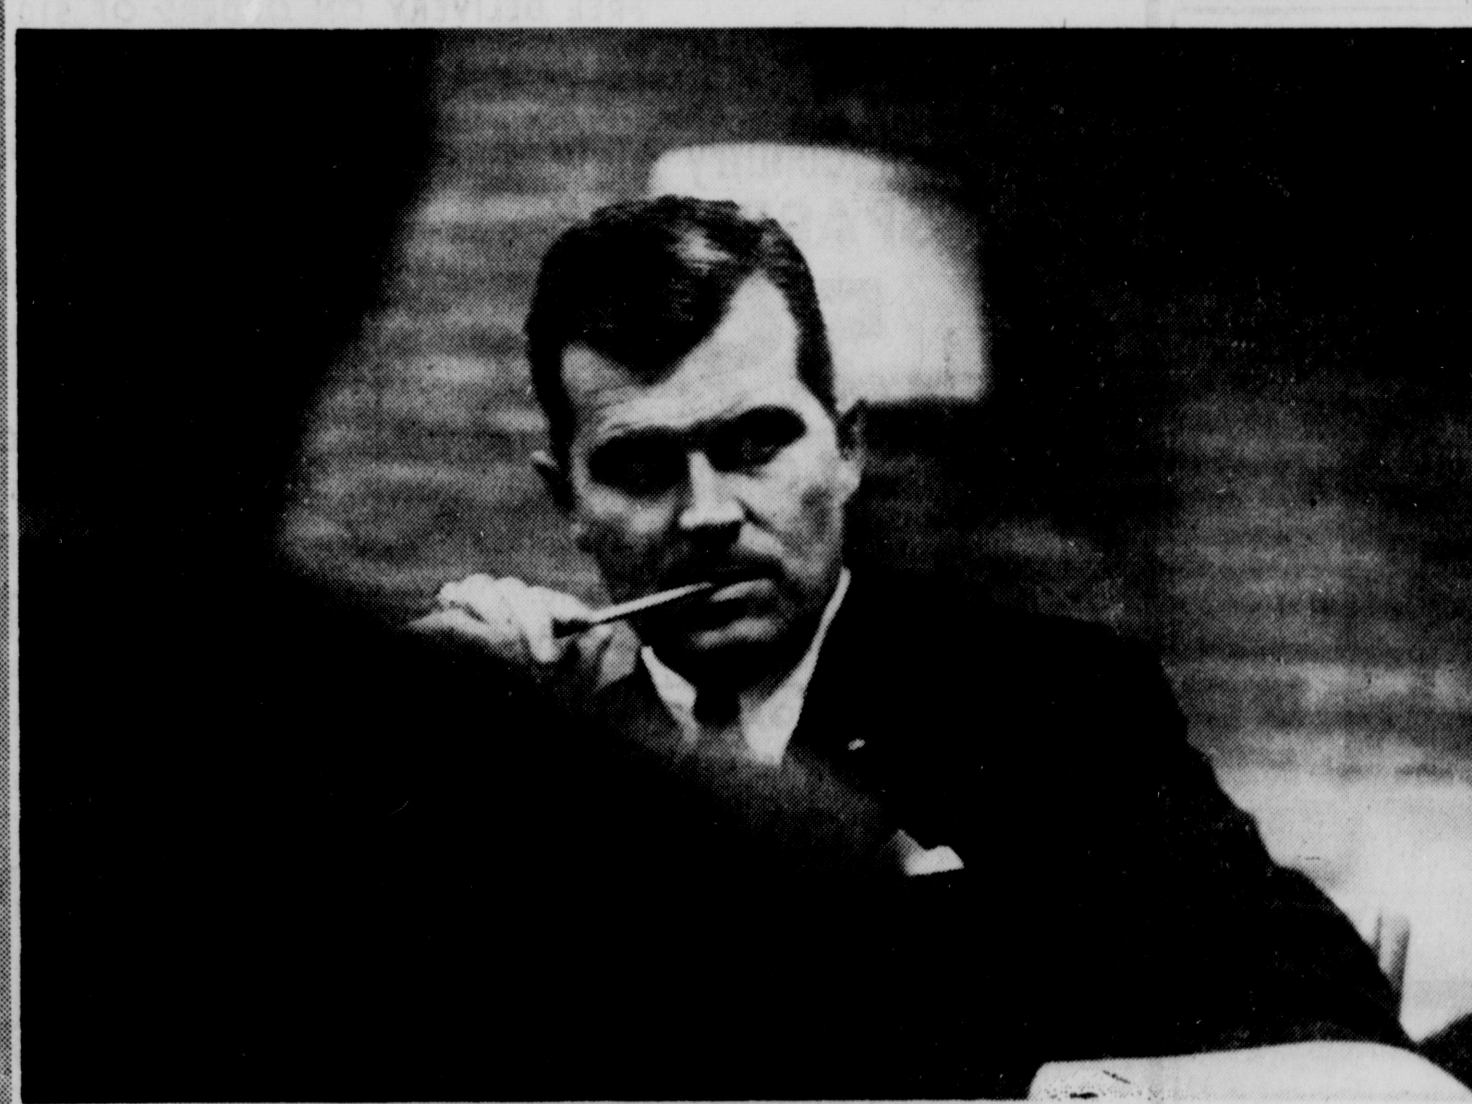

Jordan said he would vote for the antiwar measure, which he opposed last year, because it was obvious that a negotiated settlement was nowhere near.

"The war has drained away our national strength in every conceivable way," he said. "The country is divided as it has not been since the Civil War."

Jordan's support raised the number committed to vote for the end-the-war measure to 38. However, a UPI survey indicated that 51—a majority—plan to vote against it, with eight undecided and three absent or not voting.

On the other side of the Capitol, the House also turned to the issue of Vietnam. Leaders called up for debate a put before them Wednesday. Sponsors were shooting for 150 aye votes, all but 25 or so of them coming from Democrats. The only question left unanswered was whether a majority of the House's 255 Democrats will vote against U.S. policy.

Red Hook School Talks Continue

RED HOOK

Red Hook Board of Education Vice-president Robert Bowman explained at Monday evening's board meeting that negotiations with the teachers for a 1971-72 contract are still being conducted.

He noted that two mediating sessions have been held and that fact-finding procedures under the Taylor Law will begin tomorrow evening. "Hopefully, we will finish up," he said.

He explained that the bargaining had "cleared up many areas," but there is still a split "largely on the dollar issues." And Bowman added that a report should be forthcoming from the fact-finder from the State Public Employment Board within "three or four weeks."

In other board business, newly elected board member William Taylor took over the chair formerly occupied by Lloyd Hapeman.

A report from teacher Arthur Groves on the Mill Road School Nature In-Service Course for 24 teachers culminated in the board allowing two in-service credits for each of the teachers involved.

Groves explained the idea behind the progressive nature study area outside the Mill Road School, formerly an apple orchard. About 1,000 spruce trees were planted there two years ago in an attempt to turn the area of four or five acres into an outdoor laboratory for elementary science courses.

Groves said that the teachers who spent 15 consecutive Saturday mornings learning the "investigative approach" under an experienced teacher were divided into committees on plants, animals, mapping, the history of the area, communications, speakers, and setting up future trails and teaching stations.

The idea for the pupils is to have some outdoor science courses conducted in certain areas of the preserve. The idea was lauded by Board President Francis Rabbett.

In other action, three teachers for the 1971-72 school year were appointed.

They are: John S. Nielson, elementary physical education; and Lisa E. Platti, elementary. It was noted that baccalaureate services will be held June 27 and graduation June 28 for graduating seniors.

Dennis Markman, elementary;

Four persons were appointed as a Parents' Council to work with the Title I program this summer. They are: Mrs. John Kelleher; Mrs. Fred Brammer; Mrs. Colin Thorley; and Sister Grace Marion.

The annual reorganization meeting of the school district will be held at 7:30 p.m., July 6 at the board meeting room in the high school.

Tivoli Water Rates Are Taking Jump

TIVOLI — The Board of Trustees, Village of Tivoli, served notice that water rates would be increased beginning this month at its Monday evening board meeting.

The rates will affect the first 10,000 gallons per quarter, going from 80 cents per thousand to $1. There will be no change over 10,000 gallons.

The resolution was part of the 1971-72 village budget, adopted two months ago.

The board also noted that meeting dates for regular board meetings will be changed from the first Monday of each month to the second Monday, effective immediately.

And it was announced that there will be a special trash pickup the third Tuesday of every month in addition to regular Monday and Thursday garbage pickups. Almost anything will be taken.

Mayor Mortimer Appel told The Freeman that an outdoor basketball court of macadam will be constructed at Tivoli Memorial Park over the bed of the shop, located behind the Broadway skating ring sometime soon this summer.

Several residents gave the village permission to demolish old buildings. The most outstanding of these is a large two-story barn formerly used as a blacksmith shop and cooper

Helen Lasher gave permission for the village to demolish an abandoned house at the corner of Broadway and Pine Street, and Isabella Choinisky did the same for an abandoned house on North Road.

The Board of Trustees will meet Thursday with the bidder on the secondary sewerage plant to discuss implementation of the project.

Residents of Clay Hill complained at the meeting about allegedly poor street lighting.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. will be asked to evaluate the complaint.

Paltz High Commencement on June 27

NEW PALTZ — Commencement exercises at New Paltz Central High School will be held in the high school's gymnasium Sunday, June 27 at 6 p. m.

The procession and recessional will be played by an instrumental ensemble under the direction of Paul Steiner. The entire senior class will sing a selection under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Bond.

Susan Widing will give the valedictory address and James Bantham will deliver the salutatory address. Tina Liucci will give the invocation. In place of the benediction, Betty Igou, a senior, will read a poem composed by her and her sister Barbara titled "We've Only Just Begun."

There will be no baccalaureate as has been the policy for the last six years. Individual parishes are encouraged to provide a service for graduates who are members of their congregation earlier on graduation day.

The high school PTA will be responsible for decorating the arch and stage and will provide a reception in the cafeteria immediately following the ceremony.

Businessmen Get Briefing

KINGSTON — Detective Joseph Feraca of the Kingston Police Department will be a guest speaker at a meeting of the Uptown Businessmen's Association to be held Tuesday, June 22, at the Dutch Rathskeller, 2 Main Street, according to Acting Police Chief Julius Glassman.

Feraca will outline the numerous methods used by shoplifters who prey on area merchants stealing assorted merchandise worth thousands of dollars in a period of months. The detective has made numerous arrests in recent years through his knowledge of the schemes used by thieves operating in business establishments.

The speaker will show how dummy cameras, a booster box and other implements are used to conceal merchandise while the thief browses through stores on the pretense of being a customer. Feraca also will inform the merchants of ways and means that they should use in spotting would-be customers who turn out to be shoplifters.

Police Lieutenant Guernsey Burger recently spoke before a group at a meeting of the Environmental Task Force and explained the litter law and told of problems faced in the enforcement of the law.

The Senior Citizen's Advisory Council has scheduled a luncheon on Friday, June 25 to honor Capt. James N. Shotzberger, commanding officer of the local Salvation Army citadel, who will be leaving this area shortly.

Alexander Yosman, coordinator of the Advisory Council, said the SA commander has been here for the past three years and has been a member of the Advisory Council since the spring of 1968.

The Salvation Army has transferred Capt. Shotzberger to a similar post in Plattsburgh and he will be assuming his new duties there on June 30.

LOSING HAIR?

Before Treatment

After Treatment

George Swyers shows results by National Hair Treatment.

MEN AND WOMEN National's Hair Consultant Here Thursday

Mr. R. E. McGee will be back in Kingston, N. Y. again Thursday, June 17.

Now is the time to act on this great opportunity. Every man and woman now losing hair should take advantage of this FREE CONSULTATION.

GUARANTEED If you are accepted for treatment, you will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from beginning to end.

CANT HELP Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. National's Hair Consultant cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of your hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. If you still have hair on the top of your head, don't put it off until it's all off. It doesn't make sense for a man to let himself go bald, certainly not without seeing a National Hair and Scalp Consultant to see if we can help you.

FREE CONSULTATION Just take a few minutes of your time on Thursday, June 17 and go to the Holiday Inn Motel Exit 19 at N.Y. State Thruway between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the desk clerk for R. E. McGee's room number.

There is no charge or obligation... all consultations are private. You will not be embarrassed in any way.

143 Million Voters

Political strategy for the 1972 election is based in large part on the size of the vote force, potentially the largest in American history.

This is the way the size of the vote is figured: In 1968, there were 73,198,223 who took the trouble to vote, and it took 31,783,783 to give Richard M. Nixon the election. Hubert H. Humphrey lost with a total popular vote of 31,271,839 and George C. Wallace was a poor third with 9,899,557. Others between them divided the remaining 243,041 votes.

The stay-at-homes, those eligible to vote but didn't, were a surprising total of 45 million, enough to have elected someone other than the two leaders. Many of these could not vote because they had moved and did not satisfy residency requirements in their new homes. This condition will be eliminated in 1972 because the new law reduces the registration requirement for federal office in all states, to 30 days.

One more large group, enfranchised by the Supreme Court decision affirming the law permitting 18 year olds to vote, will give some 25 million between the ages of 18 and 21 the vote for the first time. How many will use this franchise is a big question. But the three groups, those who voted for president in 1968, the stay-at-homes and the 18 to 21s, bring the total of eligible voters in 1972 to the enormous total of 143 million.

The big problem for the politicians is how to get out this vote, and especially, how to get out those who favor their candidates. We say candidates, not parties, because more and more the American elector has shed party loyalty to vote for men and issues rather than party. That is the encouraging thing as President Nixon and his possible opponents see it. All believe they are the one and their issues are those that will serve the nation best.

End Crime at Any Price

Chairmen of three recent presidential crime commissions, from 1965 to 1970, find their recommendations ignored or misused and crime itself still growing, not decreasing. The gist of their testimony before Congress emphasized that Americans in most big cities increasingly fear to walk the streets at night.

These crime investigators also agreed that the causes of crime—high unemployment among teen-agers in big city ghettos and the underlying social problems that create them—have not been tackled.

Otto Kerner, twice governor of Illinois and now a federal judge, as chairman of a commission on national riots in 1968, stressed the need for "common opportunities for all within a single society." The basic conclusion of his report was that, "Our nation is moving toward two societies, one black, one white, separate and unequal."

Former Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach's investigation in 1967 became the basis for the "Safe Streets Act of 1968," but he now criticizes the law for failure to make the streets safe. Law enforcement is getting tougher and tougher, he says, because relatively little has been done to solve the underlying social problems which are the cause of crime.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, whose 1969 commission recommended the increase of $20 billion in annual general welfare expenditures, complained that this was not done and therefore the roots of crime remain. For one thing, such expenditures were almost impossible until the Vietnam war is ended, and the Congress has already enacted legislation that will use up the possible dividends from the end of the war.

Law and order is essential almost at any price. That is the public consensus today, as it has been over these past crime-ridden years.

Difficult Police Recruitment Drives Reported in Large Cities

By TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A week earlier, two New York cops had been assassinated by ambush. A day earlier, the fourth Washington cop of the year was gunned down in the streets. And now 33 starchy new recruits were sitting in a classroom at the Metropolitan Police academy and listening to a movie moderator tell about the drunks, the addicts, the name-calling, the wailing children, the maniacs, the riots and the neighborhood hate that is further part of the policemen's plight.

The wonder is the 33 recruits didn't quit on the spot. The FBI says that at least 561 policemen were killed in the line of duty in the last decade. And it's getting worse. There are in any current year between 17 and 20 assaults for every 100 cops in the nation. There were 13 police deaths in March alone. In recent weeks, law enforcement officers have been beaten, stabbed, strangled, hit with acid, doused with gasoline and stoned with rocks.

Why in hell would anyone volunteer for this misery? To some extent it appears that fewer and fewer are volunteering for it. Large city police departments report these are hard times for recruitment drives. As a uniformed recruiter in New York City was recently advised (by a college prospect): "Putting on a badge is like putting on a target; it's definitely not for me." Yet, here in the nation's capital, things are surprisingly different. It's the most hazardous year for D.C. cops since 1968 (when four were killed). The force is still stinging from criticism over the handling of May Day insurgents. But the department is late in the midst of a campaign which has added more than 1,400 men to the corps, and the Police Academy is bristling with non-stop activity.

And not only is there a profusion of police recruits here, but an apparently different breed of them also. There are probably some lamebrains lurking in the classrooms, to be sure, but the general deportment is somewhat encouraging.

Take Class 71-7, as example. It is a group of 33, nine of them blacks. Most are under 25, half are Vietnam veterans, and a large number are married.

As for oafishness, apathy, coldness? None of it.

Page Pinkett, 22, is here because: "It's a bad world, and I think I can help make it good." Veronica Randall, 24 (the only girl), is here because: "I want to work with kids and give them a chance to be something." Don Hansen, 24, is here because: "I'm a radical. I've always been a radical. I want to get out there on the streets and show the people a cop doesn't have to be a louse. I want them to say 'Hey, man, that pig ain't such a bad guy after all.'"

In a word, many members of Class 71-7 seem involved. Some are themselves products of a cruel and unjust society. The rest have grown to maturity in an age where everyone has become aware that there is a cruel and unjust society. The result is a minimum of recruits in the class who feel the shortest distance between crime and the absence of crime is a club on the head. "Violence doesn't work," says one. "Brains work. All of us in this class, we understand that."

The recruit who understands best, perhaps, is Don Nelson, a short, jagged, lipping young man who, in a former age, might be scary. He is blunt, severe his ego — but as he insists,

"My head" in the right place.

The right place, says Nelson, is where the people whenever Washington people are in trouble, they don't go and knock on the White House door. They go to the churches, to the missions, to the slum areas where people have organized to care. So that's where I want to be. With the people who care. Like, I dig the old Pat O'Brien policeman, you know? The one in the movies who was a cross between Father Flanagan and a Supreme Court justice. That's what I want to be. A cop like Pat O'Brien was a cop. Helping the people who need help.

This philosophy, Nelson is quick to add, doesn't mean to hell with law and order. He (and others here) hold sacred the traditional police function of preserving the peace. "I'm radical," he explains, "but not anarchistic. I don't dig rioting or tearing down democratic institutions. You'll notice that all of us (the recruits) wear American flag insignias on our name tags. Well, none of us is ashamed of it. I love this flag. And I love all the good things it stands for. If somebody tries to destroy what it stands for, I'll be there to stop them."

So that's the difference in police recruit class 71-7 then. There is the old patriotism, even some of the old hardiness ("I think police should be armed with shotguns") — but it is curiously and encouragingly blended with a new awareness.

Long hair is not the enemy to Class 71-7. Neither is age, accent or the patches on a man's trousers. "If I catch somebody in trouble," says recruit Page Pinkett, "I don't care if he's a soul brother or a Ku Klux Klan. I'm going to use reason instead of my gun. These days reason can be a policeman's best weapon."

Czech Invasion Is Accepted Principle of Soviet Action

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Before the Soviet union invaded Czechoslovakia in August, 1968, there were long discussions within the Kremlin and between Moscow and the East European Capitals which were to cooperate in the action.

The story, as learned from a contact close to high place East European government officials, is that in these discussions the party secretary for the Ukraine urgently argued for the invasion, saying that if the Czechs were allowed to get away with democratization the "virus" would inevitably spread.

The same arguments were used by East Germany's Walter Ulbricht.

What they were arguing, of course, was the domino theory in reverse. It was this argument, it is reported, which convinced Soviet officials they must act. Opinion began to grow in the West after the invasion that the Soviet Union had made a most serious mistake, that it later came to regret this blatant use of force in a friendly country.

It was argued in high places in the United States and in Western European capitals that the Czech invasion had brought new dissension and new divisiveness to the Communist world.

But an analysis by Kremlin watchers of the recent 24th Congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union makes abundantly clear that in Brezhnev's eyes and in those of his chief party colleagues the invasion of Czechoslovakia was in retrospect a major success.

As these Soviet leaders view the invasion:

It taught the world a lesson. It warned the West and dissidents within the Soviet Union and the Soviet bloc that Moscow would not permit divisions and would suppress any attempts with strong military force.

It helped establish the "class duty" of all Communist countries to socialist internationalism as defined by Moscow, which means that as a matter of principle the Soviet Union must be accepted as the final arbiter of what are correct internal policies in any part of the Soviet bloc.

It was a major factor in leading the West toward acceptance of the status quo in Eastern Europe.

Speakers at the congress emphasized that the trends in Czechoslovakia, and by implication similar trends in any other Communist country, would, if allowed to proceed unchecked, be a threat to the entire "socialist camp."

Thus Brezhnev and other major congress speakers made clear the Czech invasion was a precedent and that this type of action has now become for them an accepted principle of Soviet action.

Jack Anderson Says FPC Chairman Nassikas Ignored Warning of His Economists

WASHINGTON—We have called for the impeachment of Federal Power Chairman John Nassikas for withholding evidence and misleading Congress to justify a $4 billion rate increase for the natural gas producers.

This is a stupendous sum, which would be squeezed out of the consumers in the form of higher monthly gas payments. Yet Nassikas, who is sworn to uphold the public interest, has blatantly misrepresented the facts to help the gas interests get away with this $4 billion grab.

We have pieced together the shocking story from the Nassikas Papers, a sheaf of memos and studies kept under lock at the FPC. Through a maze of intermediaries, however, we have obtained the suppressed papers.

It would take dozens of columns to publish them all, with their legal profundities and complexities. But here is the outline of our case against Nassikas:

The papers reveal that Nassikas ignored the studies of his own economists and relied upon the gas industry's information. The FPC, of course, is supposed to protect the public against the depredations of the gas barons. Yet Nassikas, speaking for the FPC, quoted industry figures to Senators—figures that had been contradicted by the FPC's economists.

These figures had to do with the Louisiana gas reserves, which eventually will supply half the nation. The FPC's chief economist, Haskell Wald, found the industry's figures to be dubious if not outright phony.

Warning Ignored

On Feb. 12, 1970, Wald wrote a personal memo to Nassikas, warning that two crucial sets of industry data on gas reserves "can hardly be said to match each other."

He could see "no way of corroborating" some of the industry data. The FPC's own auditing, he said, "tells us nothing about the reliability" of the questionable information.

The industry's estimates which should be consistent, show "surprisingly large differences" with many specific figures "surprisingly wide apart," he wrote.

The following day, Nassikas received another personal memo from Edward McManus, chief of the FPC's producer division, who warned that "the reliability of gas reserve estimates (by the industry) for any specific reservoir or field initially is suspect."

On Feb. 19, Wald sent an even more blunt memo to Gordon Gooch, whom Nassikas had picked to be the FPC's chief counsel.

"We are concerned over the apparent lack of adequate checks on the statistical reporting operations," wrote Wald. He called attention to an industry error of 1.3 trillion cubic feet, which the gas industry has tried to cover up.

At this point, Nassikas and Gooch should have ordered an immediate, massive FPC staff investigation. Instead, they hushed up the warning and accepted the gas producers' figures.

Senate Antitrust Chairman Phil Hart, D-Mich., without knowing exactly what Nassikas was concealing, got wind that something was amiss. In a Sept. 1 letter, Hart asked Nassikas explicitly about the information furnished by the natural gas industry.

Nassikas' reply, dated Sept. 15, appears to be a bald lie. The two crucial sets of data, he wrote, "closely parallel" each other. To buttress this astounding statement, he added: "The staff has also made specialized reports and conducted investigations."

This made it appear that the staff backed up the gas industry's figures when, in fact, the suppressed staff memos said exactly the opposite.

Deceiving Senate
On Nov. 12, Nassikas again

cited the unreliable industry figures at a Senate hearing before the Senate Fuels Subcommittee.

Chairman Frank Moss, D-Utah, asked: "You do have to rely . . . on industry figures?"

"Yes, but not entirely," said Nassikas. Later, he added that "there is substantial reliance, but . . . it is not nonanalytical reliance." In its context, the statement gave the impression that the FPC's "analytical" studies supported the industry's figures. The opposite, of course, was true.

The next day, Wald joined Nassikas with another bombshell. This was a memo disclosing that the FPC's studies and the industry's figures were out of kilter by a startling 42 per cent.

Wald followed this up with a strong memo to Gooch's office on Dec. 1 reiterating that the evidence indicated errors up to 40 per cent in some of the industry data.

Yet eight days later, both Nassikas and Gooch again touted the industry's figures at a Senate hearing chaired by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., an expert on the subject. Gooch blandly testified that the industry's figures were "reasonably reliable."

Wald's contrary warnings, which could save the gas users $4 billion, already had been hidden away.

Footnote: As we previously reported, Nassikas refused to discuss the $4 billion boondoggle with us on the grounds that the case is still before him. Gooch has denied any wrongdoing by Nassikas or himself.

Anti-Pollution

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., is introducing a bill this week to force outdoor motor firms to install anti-pollution devices. The motors dump millions of gallons of gas and oil into U.S. lakes and rivers each year. The bill would give the Environmental Protection Agency power to set standards for both old and new motors.

Disbelief Rampant

Judgment Must Temper Distrust

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Credibility Gap is the most striking feature of the American landscape. But spanning this chasm is not just a task for the politicians and other public figures who are the showcase objects of today's massive disbelief.

Trust takes two—someone capable of being trusted, and someone wanting to trust, willing to trust. Right now, we don't have very many people on either side of this equation.

The Gallup poll showing that a high proportion of Americans don't believe President Nixon on the war is hardly a surprise. Probably the doubts about his believability go beyond the war. Some Republican experts think that may be his biggest problem in a 1972 re-election bid.

Lyndon Johnson had the same difficulty. A significant question is whether a habit of disbelieving presidents is setting in.

Distrust of politicians generally, and of the whole political process, has been a mark of American history. Yet it has reached epidemic velocity the last half decade.

The young people "turning off from the system" are only one of the more dramatic, highlighted signs of this epidemic. Adults 30 and older often are just as disenchanted.

Now, nobody can or should argue that we ought to go easy on men who actively earn our distrust. We have a right and, indeed, a duty to hold our public figures to standard.

Nevertheless, many Americans, young and old, may be contributing recklessly to the contagion of disbelief. The great fashion today is the sweeping indictment.

It is all so terribly simple. The easiest thing to say is: "All politicians are crooks." Or: "I don't believe anything he says."

Of course, there are chronic, total liars in public life as elsewhere. But their numbers are not legion. To talk as if they were is to abdicate discriminating judgment.

When I was a freshman in this business, a seasoned wag at a midwestern state capital told me:

"The art of covering politics is the art of eliciting information from politicians while concealing your contempt for them."

I have found that advice limited in value. For the fact is that, in addition to being tremendously likable, many politicians are almost totally truthful (though not always candid), and many others go through the gamut—some lying just a little, some a fair amount, some a good deal but not all the time.

The political reporter's necessity is to separate these people out, to learn who is nearly completely trustworthy, who is trustworthy some or most of the time, who is beyond believing.

To disbelieve them all, all of the time, is to move about in a self-constructed cocoon of unreality. The reporter with that conviction is unequipped for life as it is. Except when dealing with total prevaricators, he is useless in the coverage of politics.

The same can be said of any citizen in the land. Trusting is hard work. It requires making very penetrating judgments.

You have found a cop-out if you hear a man say that his ideals, his pure principles compel him to brand all politics as wicked.

It is time to stop wearing disbelief as your badge of acceptability in an untrusting society. You have to find the men to trust (they are in our midst), and find the believable things in men who sometimes let us down. You have to accept the great human achievements of the past, and not try to negate them or distort them according to present disbeliefs. If nothing past was good where did you get your free voice to complain?

Immunization Clinic Slated At Woodstock

WOODSTOCK — A clinic for immunizations against polio, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, smallpox, measles and rubella will be conducted by the Ulster County Health Department at the Dutch Reformed Church, Woodstock, Wednesday, from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

The whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus immunizations should be started at two months of age and the smallpox should be given sometime during the first and second year of life. Polio immunizations should be started from two to six months of age.

Measles and rubella immunizations are advised during the second year of life.

The clinics serve those who referred by their physicians or those who are otherwise unable to secure the immunizations.

Groppi and 11 Arrested at Yale Graduation

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Twelve persons, including the Rev. James Groppi, were arrested Monday after trying to rush through a line of police blocking an entrance to the courtyard where Yale University commencement was taking place.

Groppi, a civil rights activist, and the others were charged with disorderly conduct then released.

Some 350 striking Yale employees and their supporters marched two blocks to the University's Old Campus commons, site of the commencement exercises. They sang songs like "We Will Not Be Moved," but they could barely be heard inside where the ceremony was being held.

Among the recipients of honorary degrees was West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, who had been asked by the striking workers' union not to cross their picket lines and come to Yale.

He came anyway and the demonstrators changed "Willy Brandt go home." But Brandt was not seen by the demonstrators. He arrived late, then slipped out of the ceremonies through a side door.

The arrested persons ranged in age from 19 to 45 and included David Ilishin of Washington, D.C., 22, president of the National Student Association. Also arrested was Vincent Sirabella, head of the strikers and a candidate for mayor of New Haven.

Domenick DelBucco, a 34-year-old mason, claimed that New Haven's policemen hit him and another striker with nightsticks while demonstrators were trying "peacefully" to enter the commons.

Police had another version. "Every attempt was made to insure that the demonstration remained orderly and in conformance with legal requirements," said Chief Biagio DiLieto afterwards.

Horn-Hardart Fined $7,500

NEW YORK (AP) — Health code violations at its central bakery have cost the Horn and Hardart restaurant chain $7,500 in fines.

Three fines of $2,500 each were meted out in Criminal Court four months ago. They became known Monday because of an article in the magazine Consumer Reports is publishing in its July issue. The Health Department made no public announcement when the fines were assessed.

The firm was punished because inspections found repeated violations, including flour crawling with insects and cake dough and pecans contaminated with rodent waste.

Although Horn and Hardart pleaded guilty, Andrew Romeo, a vice president, said Monday he felt the stiff fines were "totally outrageous."

He said the company, operator of restaurants, Automats and retail stores, was phasing out the bakery at 600 W. 50th St.

Asserting that "90 per cent of the violations were in areas of the plant we were not using," Romeo declared, "it cost me a fortune afterwards to get the place cleaned up."

The last city inspection, on March 18, gave the bakery a clean bill of health. But a tour of the building Monday showed bodies of cockroaches on the floor of the ingredient storage area near a dolly loaded with sacks of sugar. A similar situation was cited as a violation last Oct. 22.

When the insects were pointed out to Romeo, he said, "Yes, but they're dead roaches."

Presidential Car

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Secret Service has announced that Ford Motor Co. is building a new $200,000 armor-plated, bulletproof presidential limousine to replace the one in which President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

The White House has a continuing program under which it gets one new limousine every four years and keeps the car for eight years. The last car went to President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1968 and it will remain in service until 1976.

PSC Favors Rate Hike for Area Utility

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — An interim $2.4 million electric rate increase for Orange and Rockland Utilities Inc. was recommended Monday by a Public Service Commission examiner.

The amount would be 40 per cent of the $5.9 million temporary increase asked by the company.

The PSC gave the firm and other interested parties until June 28 to respond to the recommendation by examiner Lawrence A. Gollomp.

Orange and Rockland's request for a permanent $8.1 million increase is under study.

Although the company said it needed the $5.9 million immediate increase to cover a $25 million bond sale, Gollomp said a $15 million bond issue was sufficient.

Orange and Rockland serves 117,000 customers in all of Rockland and parts of Orange and Sullivan counties.

Mayor Koenig Leads City Delegation at Grossinger's Country Club

GROSSINGERS — Municipalities may have to raise rents or subsidize some state-aided projects, Charles J. Urstadt, state housing commissioner, told a group of New York State housing and renewal officials today.

The New York State

Association of Housing and Renewal Officials is meeting in annual conventional at this Catskill Mountain resort. Among the delegates are Kingston's mayor, Francis R. Keonig, its director of public housing, Alexander Yosman and its urban renewal director, James G. Connors. The convention ends tomorrow. Commissioner Urstadt, according to the Associated Press, said that finding the necessary operating funds in times of rapidly rising inflation would not be easy.

"What I am suggesting to you today is that these deficit situations are developing and they should be brought to the attention of the responsible officials in your municipalities so that together you may determine how you plan to resolve these deficits when they hit you," Urstadt said.

Municipalities might be called on to subsidize the housing through their tri-partite loan agreement with the state and the housing authority, he explained. His comments were made in remarks prepared for the association meeting at Grossinger's resort in the Catskills.

New York City has 52 state-aided projects, while Utica and Buffalo have five each. The state has a total of 131 such projects.

Electronics Institute at Paltz College

NEW PALTZ — A summer Institute in Electronics will be offered this summer from June 28 to Aug. 20 for secondary school teachers of physics and chemistry at State University College, New Paltz, by the college's Department of Physics.

The Institute is supported by the National Science Foundation and will bring to New Paltz participants from all parts of the continental United States and Hawaii.

The central objective of the program is to provide the participants with an understanding of modern electronic instrumentation and circuitry, placing a strong emphasis on practical laboratory and experimental experiences.

Participants will receive a stipend from the National Science Foundation together with a dependency allowance and a travel allowance.

Arrangements for the Institute have been handled by Dr. Donald Walker, associate professor of physics at the college.

Man Is Jailed In Lieu of Fine

NEW PALTZ — Accused of criminal possession of dangerous drugs sixth degree—marijuana—and resisting arrest, Michael James Delaney, 24, of 69 Academy Street, Poughkeepsie, was arraigned before Town Justice Rexford Schneider Monday night.

Patrolman Louis Olson took Delaney in custody in the village, and following his arrest on the drugs count, the defendant reportedly tried to escape from custody. Delaney pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined $100 or 10 days in jail on the drugs count, and an additional $50 or five days in jail on the other charge.

In lieu of payment of the fines he was committed.

Traffic in Pot

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Dr. Ernesto Lammoglia Ruiz, chief of the psychology department of the city's Juvenile Court, estimated that the illegal trafficking in marijuana in Mexico comes to 20 tons a week.

He said that half of this amount is consumed in Mexico. The value of the marijuana trafficked in Mexico totals 23 million pesos ($1,840,000) he said. The value quadruples in the United States.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

Only a dad, with a tired face, coming home from the daily race... Bringing little of gold and fame—to show how well he has played the game... But glad in his heart that his own rejoice—to see him come and to hear his voice... Only a dad, of a brood of four, one of ten million men or more... Plodding along in the daily strife, bearing the whips and scorns of life... With never a whimper of pain or hate, for the sake of those who at home await... Only a dad, neither rich nor proud, merely one of the surging crowd... Toiling, striving, from day to day, facing whatever may come his way... Silent, whenever the harsh condemn, and bearing it all for the love of them... Only a dad, but he gives his all—to smooth the way for his children small... Doing, with courage stern and grim, the deeds that his father did for him... These are the lines that for him I pen—Only a dad, but the best of men... (Author unknown)

We publish that thought in a sincere hope it stirs sentiment and reawakens memories for families and fathers — everywhere — on Father's Day.

Classes meet 1:30-4:30 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. A special class for adult beginners will also be offered this summer for the first time. Similar to the regular adult class, the evening class meets 7-10 p.m., Monday evenings only. This class meets on Monday and Tuesday afternoons, 1:30-4:30 p.m. There are no prerequisites for any of the classes, and registration is limited to ten students in each group.

In keeping with Young People's Studio's approach, the instructor is present at all classes. Registration is by the month. The Adult Painting class starts on Wednesday, July 7. Painting for Young Adults begins on Monday, July 5. The special evening class for Adult Beginners starts Monday, July 5. Early registration is advised.

To Conduct Philharmonic at Poughkeepsie

Skitch Henderson, one of the country's outstanding concert and television personalities, will appear in Poughkeepsie on Saturday. He will conduct the Hudson Valley Philharmonic in an evening of light classics and of music of the American theater. The concert will be held at Pough-kepsie High School at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Henderson, who is donating his services for the benefit of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, successfully manages to lead a double life in music. His career ranges from piano stints in what he affectionately calls

"pubs" to guest direction of the New York Philharmonic.

Henderson's success has been notable in all facets of musical endeavor. Typical praise came after a recent appearance with the Houston Symphony. The Post critic said, "Maestro Henderson gave the best concert of its type presented anywhere in the nation. He is a tasteful and efficient musician, both as director and pianist-director." Mr. Henderson will perform both as pianist, and as conductor from the piano in the benefit concert.

Although he has been so successful as a variety performer, with names such as Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra, Mr. Henderson has always been involved with "classical" music, and has been very generous in his help to symphony orchestras. He feels that the financial problems of these orchestras are too monumental to be solved by the organizations themselves. "I look forward to the day when the government helps the arts as they do in Europe," he said.

Mr. Henderson is looking forward to his return to Poughkeepsie, where he performed last season as guest conductor of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. When he was in Poughkeepsie discussing his plans for the benefit, he said, "I have great respect for Claude Montoux and the fine instrument which he has created in his orchestra. I am very impressed with the dedication of the musicians who are donating their time for the benefit of the Philharmonic Society. This is a fine orchestra in a wonderful valley, and I'm happy to be able to help them."

There will be a reception following the concert at the Aula at Vassar College, to which the patrons of the concert are invited to meet Mr. Henderson. For tickets, contact Norman Rafalowsky of Kingston or Mrs. Richard Messina of Saugerties.

Three UCCC Students Receive Scholarships

Three Ulster County Community College students have been named to receive scholarships awarded by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Unser, of Samsonville.

Mrs. Unser is an associate librarian in the Macdonald DeWitt Library at the College, and her husband is a representative for a book publisher. The three students named to receive the scholarships are Mrs. Peter Boyle, of 10-15 Morton Boulevard, Kingston; Einar Otto Knutsen, of Brooklyn; and Miss Wendy Gail Lorz, of Stone Ridge.

Formerly a resident of Kerhonkson, Mrs. Boyle plans to continue her studies at UCCC next fall. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wasy Tatunczak.

A Liberal Arts major, Miss Lorz will be returning to UCCC next fall for her second year. She is the daughter of Mrs. Estelle V. Lorz, of P.O. Box 35, Stone Ridge.

Knutsen, also a Liberal Arts major at the college plans to become a physical therapist and hopes to transfer to the State University of New York at Buffalo next spring. He has been working in area hospitals to help pay for his college education.

Meat Market Aid for Shoppers

An about steady wholesale meat market this past week will reflect for the most part unchanged retail meat prices this week, according to the New York State Market and Consumer Information Service. As was the situation last week, there should be a fair number of "specials" featured on the meat counter. Last week's slight lowering of wholesale prices of beef and pork could possibly be an indication of lower retail prices in the near future.

Beef prices will again follow a pattern similar to that of last week. Look for the more popular steak cuts to generally range from 98 cents to $1.39. Some specials to look for will likely be chuck roast at 69 cents and lower, liver at 49 to 59 cents, franks at 59 to 69 cents and standing rib roast at $1.09. Ground beef should be in the vicinity of 67 cents depending on quality.

A fair number of pork cuts can be considered good buys, especially where stores feature such items as smoked ham at 39 cents, pork butts at 49 cents, pork loin rib half 59 cents and loin half 69 cents. Fresh calis should run at 33 cents. Sliced bacon should be in the 69 to 79 cents range. There will be some good offers on various ham cuts varying from 45 to 59 cents.

Lamb, although expensive, will be featured in a few stores with leg of lamb at 79 to 89 cents, chops from 35 to 89 cents. Most other cuts will generally hold unchanged. Veal continues scarce and expensive.

There should be some very economical poultry purchases. Whole fryers will be an excellent buy in a few stores at 29 cents, cut-up 33 cents, breasts and leg quarters at 35 cents. Turkeys will also be featured at 39 cents.

Saugerties Columbiettes Meeting for Past Presidents

Saugerties Columbiettes Auxiliary held a covered dish supper at its last meeting of the 1970-71 year on Wednesday, June 9 with Mrs. Joseph Kramer, president, presiding. A meeting of all past presidents is slated for this evening at the home of Mrs. Kramer.

Albert Conte, co-ordinator, requested a report of Columbiette activities for the past year. Mrs. Albert Conte, chairman, reported on the successful Women's Fraternal Tea held June 6 at Knights of Columbus Clubhouse. A letter was read from Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, honorary president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, who was unable to attend due to prior commitment in Pittsburgh.

Supreme Council Columbiette Convention will be held August 27 and 28 at Holiday Inn Motor Hotel at Bridgeport, Conn. Donations were allocated for one girl and one boy in the graduation class at St. Mary of the Snow School, Saugerties.

Mrs. Paul Meier was presented with a corsage from the Auxiliary and a cake from her daughter, Mrs. Vincent Geski, on the celebration of her 75th birthday. Mrs. Kramer extended her appreciation to her officers and members who worked with her during the year. The Banjo Quartette from Sweet Adelines entertained with a few selections.

Area Resident Awarded Degree

Dennis Mellander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mellander of Saugerties, was awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree in music education at the 86th annual commencement of Wagner College, in Staten Island, Sunday, June 6.

Mellander, a graduate of Saugerties High School, was a member of the college's marching and symphonic bands and also was one of the elite group of students who formed the Collegium Musicum, a troupe that performed on Renaissance and medieval instruments. A member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, music fraternity, and Kappa Kappa Psi, national band society, he was tapped for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, the men's honor society.

Mellander was awarded the Richard DuPre Award earlier this year, an honor presented to the outstanding graduating senior who is majoring in music.

Some 589 students received degrees at the outdoor ceremony.

Woodstock Playhouse Will Open Friday With Neil Simon's Laugh-Hit 'Plaza Suite'

The Woodstock Playhouse today announced its gala champagne opening on Friday, June 18th, with one of the most mirth-provoking laugh-hits of American stage history, Neil Simon's Plaza Suite.

Plaza Suite is the three-sided comedy by the man who offered seven plays and three musicals on Broadway—10 attractions in all—within 10 years and scored a home run each time he came to bat, an unprecedented record. At least one Neil Simon play was current on Broadway every week-night for almost 10 years and usually there were two and often three—as in the first half of 1967 when Barefoot in the Park, The Odd Couple and Sweet Charity were running concurrently, and again in the first nine months of 1970 when Plaza Suite, Promises, Promises and The Last of the Red Hot Lovers were running concurrently.

Starring in Plaza Suite at the Woodstock Playhouse are two experienced actors, Alan North and Scotty Bloch. Mr. North has just completed an eight month national tour of Plaza Suite and is currently appearing in the film version of it. He was seen on Broadway in Spofford, Dylan, Plain and Fancy and the City Center revival of South Pacific and has been on tour with several other Neil Simon plays including The Odd Couple and Barefoot in the Park. He was seen on television in programs such as Lawbreakers, the Jackie Gleason show, Big Town, The Doctor as well as many commercials.

Scotty Bloch appeared at the McCarter Theatre in All My Sons, Little Murders, Macbeth and The Importance of Being Earnest. She has been in productions in theatres throughout the United States as well as in Switzerland and Mexico.

In Plaza Suite Mr. Simon, fastened together a trio of convulsively funny separate comedies, unified by their all taking place in the same suite of New York's legendary Hotel Plaza, the grand dame of hotels which opened in 1907 and is still at the corner of Fifth Avenue and 59th Street, overlooking Central Park, the most fashionable of Manhattan's inns.

In succession one suite of the Plaza is occupied by different registrants who are all in an hilarious predicament of one kind or another. In the first of the plays, Alan North and Scotty Bloch (Sam and Karen Nash), as a suburban couple, come to the Plaza to celebrate their 22nd wedding anniversary in the same suite where they had spent their honeymoon only to find that the occasion is fraught with some disillusionments that are cruel but funny.

In the second of the triptych of plays, the occupant of the suite is Alan North (Jesse Kiplinger), a Hollywood movie producer who, on a quick trip to New York, has summoned to his parlor a housewife from the suburbs who had been his high-school-days sweetheart, with the intent to accomplish a seduction that he had neglected to achieve 15 years earlier.

In the third of the playlets, Alan North and Scotty Bloch (Roy and Norma Hubley) will portray the parents of a bride, whose wedding party is waiting impatiently in the ballroom 15 stories below. They are driven to distraction by their daughter — to be played by Tanny McDonald (Mimsey Hubley) — having suddenly panicked minutes before marching to the altar. She has locked herself in the bathroom of the suite after donning her wedding dress and refuses all pleas and stratagems to pry her out. Louis Smadbeck (Borden Eisler) will play the role of the groom-to-be.

Tanny McDonald, an old favorite at the Woodstock Playhouse, is returning this year. Also included in the cast are Louis Smadbeck, who appeared in several productions last season, and Bill Young.

Plaza Suite which kept New York audiences convulsed with laughter for two years and eight months, is being directed by Harold Baldridge who has such Neil Simon productions to his credit as Barefoot In The Park and The Odd Couple and last year's smash musical success Man Of La-Mancha. David Taylor has designed a marvelous set depicting the famous old hotel. Lighting is by Ronald Wallace; costumes by Elaine Frank.

Theatre parties and group discounts are available. For information and reservations call or write to the Woodstock Playhouse, P.O. Box 268, Woodstock.

Retired Mama Wants Place of Her Own

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1971, by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: The mother of a friend of mine is a lovely lady of 85. She is sweet, gentle, alert and is not ailing physically. She takes turns living with her children who love her dearly, but she is very unhappy.

She feels that she is "in the way," but whenever she

Awarded Nursing Scholarships

MISS JOYCE GARDINER

Miss Joyce Gardiner of Woodstock is the 1971 recipient of two nursing scholarship awards. She will receive the annual scholarship award of $250 from Woodstock Public Health Committee and the Florence Saqui Memorial Award of $110 which was made possible by relatives and friends of Mrs. Saqui who had been an active member of this committee.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gardiner of 12 DeLisio Lane, she will be graduated from Ontario Central High School on June 27 and will enter Ulster County Community College School of Nursing in September. Throughout her high school years, she has maintained a high scholastic average and has met all the requirements essential for the scholarship.

Dear Abby

mentions going to a retirement home, her children insist that elderly parents belong with their families, not in "institutions with strangers."

The little lady appreciates everything her children do for her but she says she would like a place of her own, however tiny. She wants to feel "independent." Her children are well-to-do and could afford to keep her in a very nice retirement home, but they refuse to consider it. Will you please comment, Abby? The elderly lady says her children read your column.

AN ADMIRER

DEAR ADMIRER: Aging parents who are in good health and sound mind "belong" where they want to be, if they have a choice. The children may be well-intentioned, but they are selfish. (They also may prefer to keep Mama at home because they fear their friends will say, "they put the poor old soul in a home to get rid of her.") I hope the children reconsider.

DEAR ABBY: This is in reply to "FAT FANNY," who complained about chairs in restaurants being too small. I am also fat and have been for several years. Instead of complaining about the chairs being too small for big me, I am now trying to make myself fit onto chairs. After being a glutton, it suddenly struck me that there was more to life than food. Without the help of one diet pill, I lost 28 pounds in 10 weeks.

Fat people always have an excuse for overeating. They're lonely, unloved, depressed, etc. Well, I'm divorced and have two children whose father refuses to support them. I live on welfare, have no job and my future looks bleak, but I am determined to make it a bright, skinny future.

"Fat Fanny" should shape up and slim down, and quit complaining about restaurant chairs that are made for the average person, not elephants. If I can do it, she can do it.

73 POUNDS TO GO
DEAR "73": Good for you! I want to hear from you 73 pounds from now. I have a hunch you'll make it.

DEAR ABBY: I am an Italian who reads your articles in the Rome Daily

American. I am very much interested in meeting the Memphis, Tenn., lady who is looking for a husband.

I am 32 years old and am 5 feet 11. I am very well built and have olive skin and green eyes and plenty of black hair. I speak five languages and come from Italian nobility on my mother's side. I play the mandolin very well and sing romantic songs.

The Memphis lady says she is self supporting, is in good health and she owns a late model American-made automobile. If she would like to correspond with me, please ask her to send me a recent photograph of the automobile.

Herdegen Tournament First for Hughes

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON — George Hughes, perennial Twaalfskill champion and only player to compete in all 20 Herdegen Memorial tournaments to date, will be among the missing for the 21st renewal which gets under way Saturday at Woodstock Country Club.

The four-time Ulster County Amateur Champion failed to file an entry prior to the June 5 deadline. He said that pressure of work and lack of practice dictated his decision to miss his first Herdegen.

"I'm bogged down with a lot of work on my property," said the famed Sweet Swinger, "and I just haven't had enough time to play and get my game in shape. I've only been out four or five times and that isn't enough. I'll miss the Herdegen because I think it's the finest tournament for amateurs in the country."

Hughes, one of Ulster County's Big Four in amateur golf with Leon Randall, Bill Van Aken and Harvey Bostic, has compiled a brilliant record in the Herdegen Memorial.

In addition to four titles (1951, 1954, 1956 and 1961), Hughes shares the all-time tournament scoring record of 63 with Rick Barthel, the Ontario High School coach who now plays out of Rondout Pool. Golf and Tennis Club at Accord. Hughes posted his 63 in the first Herdegen in 1951 and Barthel equalled the record in 1946. Both scores were shot at Woodstock Country Club.

Hughes has five second place finishes three thirds and a fourth, in addition to his four titles. He has finished below sixth only once in 20 years. He also holds the 54-hole record of 206 set in the 1951 inaugural.

With Hughes missing, the 57-

player Herdegen field will feature five former champions, including defending titlist Leon Randall of Wiltwyck Country Club, who has won eight titles. Bill Van Aken, three-time winner, Harvey Bostic (2) and Rick Barthel, who has one title to his credit.

Other top contenders include Bill Odeneal, of State University College New Paltz, who tied with Harvey Bostic for second place in 1970; Joe Bostic, Ulster County Community College star, fresh from the NJCAA competition at Flint, Michigan and Andrew Rubin, Woodstock CC champion and varsity player at Long Beach State in California.

Collegiate flavor for the tournament is also furnished by Werner Kolln (Wiltwyck of Albany State; John Buoymaster (Woodstock); Williams College; Howard Gordon (Woodstock); Dickinson College; Donald Treat (Sawyerkill); Rider College; Bob Terpening, UCCC. Area high school stars competing are Doug Tatar, Mark Brown and Terry Allred of Kingston High; Vlad Hoyt, Bill Bradley and Scotty Dean of Ontario High; and Jonathan Berger and Eric Krieger of Ellenville.

Other entries: Mike Groppuso Jr., George Cosenza, Alvin Boice, Harold Van Aken, John Provenzano, Joe Modica, Charles Stauffer, O.D. Ingalls, Harry Szarmach, Jack Parnett, J. Michael Bruhn, Dennis Beaver, Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, George Barber and Robert O. Merritt.

Giants Lose; Dodgers Defeat Mets

By United Press International

The San Francisco Giants, who at one time looked like they'd wrap up the National League West Division by fourth consecutive triumph and Memorial Day, now may find themselves knocked out of first place by Independence Day.

The Giants lost for the 10th time in their last 13 outings games, has been reduced to a Monday night, taking a 9-4 shaky five and the Giants are scheduled to meet the Dodgers five times early next month prior to the All-Star game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who held a 2 1/2-game edge over New York in the East Division, failed to take advantage of the As a result, San Francisco's Mets' loss, dropping a 5-4 decision to the Houston Astros, Willie Montanez, Tim McCarrver and Oscar Gamble also homered for Philadelphia. ## Alex Johnson Accuses Ruiz ANAHEIM (AP) — California Angels outfielder Alex Johnson was quoted Monday by the team's general manager, Dick Walsh, as saying teammate Chico Ruiz aimed a handgun at him in the clubhouse Sunday.

Walsh added that Ruiz called the account "preposterous." Walsh called a news conference Monday after Bud Tucker of the San Gabriel Valley Tribune reported the alleged incident in his sports column. The writer said he learned of the incident from a reliable source.

Walsh said he spoke with both players before Monday night's game with the Boston Red Sox. Both were in uniform for the game, but neither was in the starting lineup. During the game, Johnson sat on the Angels' bench and Ruiz, a utility infielder, sat in the bullpen.

Johnson, Walsh said, told him that during the ninth inning of Sunday's game with Washington, after both he and Ruiz had appeared as pinch hitters, Ruiz produced a handgun and aimed it in his direction while both were sitting in front of their respective lockers.

"Johnson said no verbal threat was made," Walsh said. "He also said Ruiz then put the weapon in the back pocket of his uniform and went back to the dugout."

The general manager quoted Ruiz as telling him, "It did not take place. If you think it happened, produce a witness."

Johnson had told him there was no witness, Walsh said. The outfielder told him he had notified a park security guard, who has not been questioned, Walsh said.

"There was no search and no weapon discovered," Walsh told reporters. He said police had not been notified.

The players were not available for comment.

Ruiz and Johnson, teammates at Cincinnati before coming to the Angels, almost came to blows during an argument last year.

Royals Are Rolling — Top Yanks

By United Press International

Ah the Kansas City Royals, those "aceless wonders" of the American League West just keep on winning. But at least in their latest victory, they've taken on a familiar look.

Bob Oliver and Lou Piniella, last year's Kansas City hitting stars, returned to the lineup Monday night and led the Royals to a 4-1 triumph over the New York Yankees for their sixth straight victory and 12 in the last 13 games.

Oliver, benched six days for weak hitting by manager Bob Lemon, cracked a two-run single in a four-run sixth inning while Piniella, just off the disabled list after a broken thumb, collected two hits in four trips to the plate.

In other American League games Monday, Detroit edged Chicago 4-3, Minnesota topped Cleveland 3-1, Boston outlasted Milwaukee and Baltimore were rained out, Oakland and Washington were not scheduled.

Yankees' starter Mike Keich pitched to three hits and three runs in the sixth inning when he was knocked by consecutive singles compared to only 15 so far this season was grateful for the single in a four-run sixth inning and Chuck Harrison, Piniella then greeted reliever Gary Waslewski with a bunt single to load the bases and Otis scored while the other runners moved up as Waslewski uncorked a wild pitch while facing Oliver.

Oliver then followed with a sharp single up the middle to score Harrison and Piniella.

"I won't know how to conduct myself when we lose," Lemon said of the streak, "but I've had enough experience in the past and it'll all come back to me."

Oliver, who drove in 99 runs for the Royals last year, compared to only 15 so far this season was grateful for the chance to participate again.

"It felt good to do something right for a change," the Royal Philadelphia Phillies over the weekend. Taylor sliced a double to right which scored Al Kaline from second base with two out in the 10th, giving the Tigers their sixth victory in seven games. Bill Melton hit his ninth homer of the season for the White Sox in a losing cause.

A single by rookie Doug Griffin drove in Luis Aparicio with the winning run in the 15th inning to give the Red Sox their narrow triumph over California.

With one out, Rico Petrocelli singled and advanced to second with a wild pitch before being replaced by Aparicio as a home run with two out in the eighth inning to lift the Cubs six hits and struck out 11 to notch his ninth win of the season for the Twins.

Detroit got an immediate dividend from veteran Tony up his third win of the season record at 2-2.

Walsh said he spoke with both players before Monday night's game with the Boston Red Sox. Both were in uniform for the game, but neither was in the starting lineup. During the game, Johnson sat on the Angels' bench and Ruiz, a utility infielder, sat in the bullpen.

Johnson, Walsh said, told him that during the ninth inning of Sunday's game with Washington, after both he and Ruiz had appeared as pinch hitters, Ruiz produced a handgun and aimed it in his direction while both were sitting in front of their respective lockers.

"Johnson said no verbal threat was made," Walsh said. "He also said Ruiz then put the weapon in the back pocket of his uniform and went back to the dugout."

Kuhn Levies Fine

CLEVELAND (UPI) — "The decision of the commissioner has been made and there is nothing we can do about it."

That was the only statement issued by Gabe Paul, president and treasurer of the Cleveland Indians, Monday night after the Cleveland club was notified that a fine of $5,000 was levied upon it by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for signing bonus contracts with Ken Harrelson, Sam McDowell, Graig Nettles and Vada Pinson.

"I have no feelings about the fine," said McDowell, who hurled his sixth straight victory Sunday against the Milwaukee Brewers. "I have no statement to make until I talk to my lawyers."

McDowell, whose contract was supposed to include a bonus clause for every victory over 20 games, could have made up to $100,000 with a good year.

Harrelson, who has been benched in favor of rookie Chris Chambliss, denied he had a bonus clause while Nettles, whose contract allegedly had a clause about reaching base during the year, said, "No comment."

"I have no comment on the situation," said Pinson, who was a holdout early in spring training. "We'll just wait and see what happens."

"I figured this would happen so it is not so shocking. I'm just going to sleep on it tonight and we'll see what happens tomorrow."

Kuhn indicated that Cleveland's arrangement with the four players as invalid because they were set forth in side letters rather than in the official contracts.

The commissioner also stated that instead of the bonuses the players were to get, each player would be entitled to receive from the club at the end of the season whatever additional salary American League President Joe Cronin felt each merited.

Kingston Savings Bank clears up the interest rate confusion.

There are lots of ways and places to save. So many, in fact, that if you want the highest possible return on your savings, it can get a little confusing, trying to figure out how and where to get it. We'd like to clear things up a bit.

Kingston Savings Bank has six ways to save. They're all described here. Read and decide which way is best for you. Then, remember this: no other bank pays higher dividends. And, some banks pay less.

6% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for a specified term, from 2 to 5 years.

5.75% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for one year.

5.25% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for 90 days.

5% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
Deposits made by the 10th of any month earn 5% from the first of that month, and from then on from day of deposit.

5% per year, compounded daily, and credited for whatever number of days your money is on deposit, as long as a balance of $10 remains to the end of the quarter. Our Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal Accounts.

On term accounts — 6%, 5.75%, and 5.25% — you can choose to receive your interest at the end of each quarter, or leave the interest in your account to earn interest on that interest.

If you have $100,000 or more, come in and discuss a special plan tailored for you.

Kingston High Receives Section One Approval

KINGSTON Kingston High School Athletic Director Bill Hurley received word yesterday that the Maroons have been officially accepted into Section One, completing the transition from the now-defunct DUSO League and Section Nine to the Central Section of the Dutchess County Scholastic League.

In a letter from Robert Am

Douglass, Section One Interscholastic Sports Director for Section One, White Plains, it was explained that Kingston's application had been unanimously accepted by the member schools of Section One. The section includes all schools in Westchester, Putnam and Dutchess Counties.

In another statement this past weekend Douglass also explained that the chief school executives from all Section One schools had been polled and had "overwhelmingly accepted the State-approved ninth football game."

Douglass reported that, while the schools had accepted the ninth tilt, it would be up to the individual schools as to whether or not they would want to play the game.

Some discussion was also presented concerning the possibility of having post-season inter-sectional games, as is done in all major sports now, with the exception of football. While the idea seemed favorable to the school administrators, no official action was taken.

"We're quite pleased with our acceptance into the Section

One," said Hurley. "We have been playing a lot of those teams, in all sports and I think we can handle the competition. We have been given a great opportunity and will try to make the most of it."

"We will have to adjust," he went on. "And, we are sorry that we will no longer be in Section Nine. But, we have to go to the situation that suits us best. It will be an adjustment, but we will make it."

Hurley also stated that he was pleased with the chance to play the ninth football game and might even try to schedule one for this season.

"As I have said before, I would want us to continue relations with Newburgh Free Academy as long as possible. We have always had a good rivalry with the Goldbacks and I think it is a game that the fans would want. Of course, if the DCSL were to expand again, or, if inter-sectional play was accepted, we would probably, and I might add, sadly, have to sever relations with NFA," he concluded.

Youth Center Tops Barbers

SAUGERTIES The Youth Center and Michael's Barber Shop posted wins in the White Division of the Saugerties Softball League. The Youth Center defeated A. J. Scarselli's, 13-10, while the Barbers downed State-Wide Carpeting, 12-5.

The Youth Center exploded for seven runs in the last inning to pull out the decision. Paul Krusher drove in three runs for the winners on two hits. Dit and Butch Myer had three hits apiece. Roger Lind

Cable Nine Unloads Big Guns

Cablevision bombed State Road Runners pitching for 21 hits as the TV-Men won the American Division B Slow Pitch League tilt, 20-10. In other game, Stauble Nationwide downed Lamoreaux Mobil, 19-11; The Place beat the Telephone Boozers, 14-13; White Eagle defeated Rite Cleaners, 16-15.

Joe Galiato had two homers and a double for the State, but that wasn't enough to overcome three hits apiece by Bill Hart Jr., John Beisel and Ron Jones. Tom Hamman tripled for the winners, Ralph Temple had a three-bagger for the losers.

Two triples by George Grieco and three hits in five trips by John Hickey led the Insurance-men to victory. Hickey had a triple and two doubles. Ed Schmidt had two hits for the losers.

Joe Harkins went three-for-three and Bob Millert went three-for-four, scoring three times for The Place. Bill Palen went three-for-four with a homer for the Boozers. John Fiore tripled for the winners.

Ed Parker hit two homers, while teammates Herb Morris and Sonny Adams added one each. But, the round-trippers went for naught as Dan Turk, Jim Williams, Bob Burns and Rick Smith had three hits apiece for White Eagle.

Costello Hurls One-Hitter: Jones Over Carey, Lions Win

KINGSTON—Bill Costello fired a one-hitter, striking out 12 and walking seven as Chidsey-DeForest defeated Miron Lumber, 12-4, in a Babe Ruth League tilt yesterday at Dietz Stadium. In another BR tilt at Loughran Park, Kevin Jones bested Duane Carey as the Kingston Lions downed the Legion, 2-0.

Catcher Tony Pagliaro helped batterymate Costello with a bases-loaded triple in the first stanza as the Chidsey nine exploded for six runs. Paliaro went two-for-two with a single. Phil Timbrouck and Jeff Cammans had two hits apiece for the winners.

Jones fired a five-hitter, striking out five and walking none while Carey pitched a three-hitter, walking nine and striking out 11. Both Lion markers scored in the third without benefit of a basehit.

Muhammad Ali Awaits the Word

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP)—Muhammad Ali, who begins preparing Tuesday for his heavyweight fight with Jimmy Ellis, says an imminent decision by the U.S. Supreme Court on his 1967 conviction for draft evasion, will not effect his training.

"I don't think about it," the former heavyweight champ said in an interview Monday. "Whatever happens is the will of the Lord. He said if the court rules against him, 'I go to jail, that's all.'

Ali, who plans to train in Chicago, said he wasn't ready yet for his bout with Ellis in Houston's Astrodome, "But I will be July 26."

The Supreme Court has agreed to rule on a lower court sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for draft evasion. It is expected to rule before it adjourns for the summer in two weeks.

Four years ago, June 20, 1967, Ali refused to step forward to join other draftees in entering the Army. Since then, Ali has spent "a couple of hundred thousand dollars" on appeals.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Carl Yastrzemski, although still batting under .300, continues to lead all American League players in the balloting to determine the starting All-Star team.

The Boston Red Sox outfielder, three times a league batting champion and in 1967 the Triple Crown winner of the 275,000 ballots cast thus far, according to the official figures announced by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The All-Star game will be played in Detroit July 13. Three members of the world champion Baltimore Orioles are among the leaders for the eight positions to be determined in the voting by the fans. Boog Powell leads at first base with 105,788 votes, Brooks Robinson leads at third with 110,286 and Frank Robinson, with 72,191 major and minor league parks and at 85,000 Gillette voting stations.

Can Tony Jacklin Break Jinx?

ARDMORE, Pa., (AP)—No body has been able to win consecutive U.S. Open Golf championships since Ben Hogan did it in 1950 and 1951. Can England's Tony Jacklin break through the jinx that seems to be hanging over the defending champion?

"I'm still hungry and there is nothing else I want to do but play golf," said Jacklin before a practice round Monday over the 6,544 yard Merion Golf Club course, scene of this week's 71st annual U.S. Open, starting Thursday.

Jacklin isn't concerned with history or jinxes, or even courses. "If I'm playing well I have a good chance," he said. "That's my problem, playing well." He said he wasn't concerned that he had never seen let alone played Merion. "It doesn't matter. I've won on all sorts of courses."

Jacklin's main concern is that he has been in a slump. He's been in slumps before, but he says his latest one has lasted longer than any of the others.

Jacklin, who won at Hazletine last year by seven strokes with a 281, feels his game has been distracted because of the personal appearances resulting from his Open triumph.

Gerlak - Haggerty Take Second

KINGSTON—Alex Gerlak of The Twaalfskill Club teamed with Bob Haggerty, Jr. of Schenectady Municipal to card a one-under par, 36-34-70, to place second in the annual Northeastern New York PGA Senior-Junior Pro Championship, Monday at Shaker Ridge Country Club at Loudonville.

The winners were Alex Sinclair of Mohawk and Bob Mix of Albany Country Club, who paried for a three-under-par 34-34-68 over the par 36-35-71 Shaker Ridge layout. Both are former three-time Northeastern champions. It was the second win in a row for Mix, who led the pro division of the Sawyerkill Country Club Pro-Member-Guest last Monday.

The winners fired six birdies, three on each nine, for their 34-34 winning effort.

Jim Hutchins of Woodstock and his partner, Jim Murray, unattatched, were in a four-way tie at even par 71. Hutchins and Murray posted 37-34 to tie with Larry Ostrander, Windham, and John Doctor, Dalton, Mass., 37-34-71; Chick Moxon (Pittsfield) and Ed Bosse (Colonie), 36-35-71; and Pat Palmieri (Pittsfield)—Glen Young, Pinehaven, 35-36-71.

Other scores: Ben Toski — George Lauretti, 34-38-72; George Ramsden-Ralph Montoya, 36-36-72; Lou Pedulla-Garry LaVergne, 37-35-73; Bill Gressick-Al Stein, 38-35-73; Hal Duval-John Maurycy, 37-37-74; John Gaucas-Jay Marschall, 36-38-74.

John Kendall-Stew Smith (Sawyerkill), 39-36-75; Lawrence Mattei-Paul Falls, 39-37-76; Scotty Robertson-Skip Lawlor, 38-38-76; Jack Maxwell-Bob Smith, 40-40-80.

Next Monday, the pros compete in a Pro-Member event at the Catskill Country Club.

AAU Star May Miss China

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Carolyn Bennett, a 17-year-old national AAU diving champion said Monday she was delighted by the prospect of making a goodwill trip to Communist China, but added, "I'm not sure if I'm going."

One solution to the scheduling problems has been put forward by Carolyn's coach, Mrs. Betty Perkins. She and Hobie Billingsley, coach of the 1972 U.S. Olympic women's swimming team, plan to ask fellow members of the Women's Diving Rules Committee to exempt Carolyn from appearing at the pre-qualifiers in North Carolina.

Mrs. Perkins indicated the committee's decision would be known in about a week.

Disclosure of the proposed China trip came from Mrs. Perkins Monday. She said the invitation was contained in a letter written by Ever Wilson of Baltimore, identified as acting chairman of the World Youth Camp Organizing Committee.

The letter, received about three weeks ago, noted that Miss Bennett and seven other U.S. athletes had attended the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico as World Youth Camp organizers.

In light of that experience, the letter said, the committee "requests the pleasure of your company on the 1971 good will mission to the Peoples Republic of China."

Wilson, asked to comment in Baltimore, refused to divulge further details until Aug. 16.

Carolyn said she would not start making any concrete plans until she learned the rules committee decision. "I wonder how long it will take to get a visa?" she asked.

According to Mrs. Perkins, the suburban Pittsford girl, would be accompanied on the trip by three girls and four boys representing the sports of gymnastics, track, swimming and diving.

Eurich Scores First Victory

MIDDLETOWN—Rich Eurich, the 22-year-old Warwick based driver, took the lead on the seventh lap then weathered three caution flags and re-starts to win the modified race Saturday night at Orange County Fair Speedway.

It was Eurich's first feature victory since joining the high speed ranks this year. Last season the speedster was point champ in the Limited Sportsman division.

Jerry Wilson took command in the 15th lap and won his fourth Limited Sportsman feature of the current campaign. Wilson started 16th in the 24-car field.

In the Semi-Late Model action it was another triumph for Dave Gibson, only this time he had to do it the hard way.

Leading the race on the 10th lap under a caution, Gibson spun his No. 7 coming out of the second turn and fell to the rear of the field. Despite the handicap, Gibson was able to power his vehicle to the lead again in the 14th go-around and went on to score his fourth victory.

Wilson, asked to comment in Baltimore, refused to divulge further details until Aug. 16.

Carolyn said she would not start making any concrete plans until she learned the rules committee decision. "I wonder how long it will take to get a visa?" she asked.

According to Mrs. Perkins, the suburban Pittsford girl, would be accompanied on the trip by three girls and four boys representing the sports of gymnastics, track, swimming and diving.

Free Spinal Treatment Announced

WEST HURLEY

A free spinal treatment clinic is being offered area residents by a father and son team of chiropractors, Jack and Howard Soltanoff of Route 28, West Hurley.

The clinic will be open Mondays from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. with the hours lengthened if the need dictates, Dr. Soltanoff said.

In making the announcement, it was noted that the program is being launched because of the many patients "who are caught in the never-never land of the medically indigent, people not on welfare, but unable to afford the high cost of health care."

The father and son team opened their office in West Hurley last year. Dr. Soltanoff is an authority on nutrition, natural foods and vitamins.

He is chief of the Soltanoff Clinic in Manhattan where his patients include among others, folk singer, Bob Dylan; author, Norman Mailer; actor, Hugh Marlow; former light heavyweight champion Jose Torres and actresses Faye Dunaway and Viveca Lindfors.

Dr. Soltanoff is known to close friends and associates as "lemon guru" because of his belief in the antiseptic healing powers of the common lemon.

SPCA, Council Meet Again; Contract Termination Looms

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — Ulster County (and the city of Kingston) may be in for some real "dog days" in July. The Ulster County SPCA has served notice that it will no longer collect animals as of July 1, because of an "illegal contract" between the humane society and the two governmental bodies.

That bit of information came to light at Monday night's heated meeting in the city courtroom called by the Finance, Ways and Means Committee and the Auditing Committee of the Common Council, to discuss the city dog collection situation.

City Clerk Louis F. DeCicco said that he had received a letter from the SPCA that the organization's board of directors had met on June 1 and voted to discontinue its contracts with the city and the apparently took steps to find out what was going on with the SPCA. A meeting was held last Monday night in the County courthouse in an attempt to clear the air. Mrs. Catherine Stoutenburgh, president of the SPCA and its executive officer, was invited but did not attend.

Mrs. Stoutenburgh and the SPCA board of directors were also invited to last night's meeting, by letter, from DeCicco, mailed June 9.

DeCicco received a letter from the SPCA's attorney, John Egan, on June 11, notifying him that Mrs. Stoutenburgh could not attend last night's meeting and that neither could he. Egan suggested another meeting.

It was also noted, during last night's meeting, that no member of the board of directors could speak without the permission of the entire board. There were four members of the board in attendance.

It became quickly apparent that no one was there who could speak officially for the SPCA. A meeting was held last

The meeting came to an end shortly after Alderman Brian Smith (R-Third Ward) took the floor. "This is the second meeting I've been to," Smith said. "I see no purpose in either meeting. I agree with Alderman Sinsabaugh that this meeting should be adjourned."

Afterward, there seemed to be a good deal of confusion as to the future course of the city in regards to its dog problems assuming the SPCA intends to cancel its contracts with the city as of July 1.

The city's corporation counsel, Aaron E. Klein, is in Europe on vacation and is not due back until July 5. The aldermen are not sure where they stand (legally) with the SPCA.

"One thing is certain," Heitzman said. "We have to have dog control in this city. And if the SPCA sticks to its July 1 deadline, we've got about two weeks to work this thing out."

Charter, Expenses, Traffic Ellenville Board Topics

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE — The village charter (there doesn't seem to be any), the $300 odd Village Manager Lawrence Eyres received in moving expenses when he came to Ellenville (possibly "illegal"), and a village traffic plan were the major items of interest at Monday night's meeting of the Ellenville Village Board.

Trustee David Kramer said he had been told by Gordon Kent, head of the Ellenville Housing Authority, that a Housing Authority request to the New York Department of State for the Ellenville Village Charter had resulted in the answer that there was none on file.

Kramer wanted to know if there was such a thing as the village of Ellenville for him to be trustee of.

Village Clerk Lillian Finkelstein assured Kramer there was such a thing as Ellenville. She said the village was first incorporated in 1855. It was reincorporated in 1914. At neither time did anyone go through the last formal step of incorporation by sending the proper documents to the State Department.

She said she was certifying the necessary documents, which she told The Freeman were "fragile, and yellowed with age," and would forward the proper papers to Albany. Village Attorney Alex J. Nierenberg said if the question ever came up in court, Ellenville would still be a village simply because it has been recognized and operated as one for so long.

The matter of the moving expenses was brought up by Rivan Krieger, former member of the village board and defeated candidate for mayor on the Independence ticket. He used the recent report on village financial procedures by the State Department of Audit and Control, which was less than favorable, to launch into a discussion of Eyres' moving expenses. Krieger, who appeared to have researched the issue rather thoroughly, said the figure involved was $311.

Trustee Walter Grey said, in response to an inquiry by Krieger, he had called Audit and Control and had been told by someone whose name he could no longer remember that the payment of Eyres' moving expenses was probably "illegal" according to municipal finance procedures.

Krieger said it was his understanding that Eyres was not going to be paid moving expenses because of the "high salary" he was to receive. Krieger was a member of the board that hired Eyres.

Trustee DeWitt Clinton said Krieger was "dreaming."

Eyres said he felt "like writing a check for the money and paying it back now." He said he was unaware that the item was even an issue until it was brought up at last night's meeting, and said it was standard for a new manager to be paid moving expenses.

The trustees finally adopted a traffic plan. It calls for left turn lanes on Main Street, and no parking between Canal and Center. The streets will be striped, and traffic police will speed the flow. There will be no parking along Main Street on the block in question.

The alternative choice was to let the police "hardnose" traffic through the village, and eliminate parking as they needed it.

Neither prospect pleased all the residents in attendance. Police Chief William C. Trappell neatly expressed the frustration of village officials when he said, "You've had about six plans to choose from, and you've knocked them all down. It's time to do something." And the trustees did.

The vote on the formation of an Ellenville Human Relations Commission failed by a 2-2 tie, as Trustee Dr. Michael Tannenbaum had to leave early because of illness. Mayor Robert Dowling, who voted against the proposal, asked that it be brought up at the next meeting when he had more time to study it.

Austerity Budget Listed, Voters Go to Polls on July 6

ELLENVILLE — The Ellenville School Board has settled on an austerity budget as a base, with 11 separate propositions to submit to school district voters as a way out of the school district's budget crisis.

Tuesday night's school board meeting saw adoption of the plan. The austerity budget, it self, without the propositions, totals roughly $50,000 more than the 1970-71 budget of $3,350,761, but would mean a slight decrease in local school taxes. Voter approval of the propositions would of course, add to the budget.

The two biggest propositions, in terms of money, are the transportation proposition and the instructional supply-textbook proposal. Transportation carries with it a $79,350 price tag, and the other about $70,000.

If the transportation proposition is not approved, the district will have to go to the state mandated austerity levels of two miles for elementary and three miles for students. The present district levels are 7.7 and one mile.

If the instructional supply-textbook proposal is not approved, the district will not be able to buy any new elementary textbooks, and will have to charge rental for the use of district textbooks by elementary students.

Initial Steps Requested For Conversion of Stewart

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The State Department of Transportation is preparing to buy so that cargo jets can fly — into the former Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh.

The department announced on Monday that the Metropolitan Transportation Authority has asked DOT to take initial steps for acquiring land around the base so that it can be expanded into a cargo jetport.

Although plans call for buying up to 11,000 acres around the base west of Newburgh, the DOT spokesman said the MTA had not yet specified how much is to be taken.

"They haven't as yet defined the limits as to what they want," the spokesman said.

Acting as the agent for the MTA, the department will do the negotiating with owners of the property, making offers and possibly condemning the land if negotiations fail.

The state is limited to doing what the MTA asks, the spokesman said.

Governor Rockefeller's proposal to spend $30 million expanding the field into a cargo port won legislative approval after he modified it to specify that any transition into a major passenger terminal would be accomplished gradually.

The supplementary budget included another $40 million in authorizations for the MTA to begin strengthening runways and building a high speed rail link to cover the 65 miles between Newburgh and Manhattan.

Also listed as propositions are teacher aides and professional negotiator fees, two controversial items.

Voting on the propositions will be July 6. No voter approval is required for the basic austerity budget.

Ellenville Superintendent of Schools Thomas J. Hayden said the school board took "no risks" in working out the austerity budget, and is submitting all items where there is any question whatever to the voters.

Other propositions are on the reading program and bilingual specialist; interscholastic sports and co-curricular activities; capital outlay for instruction; the adult education and expense of the regular business in of the pool; the expense of commencement and student field trips; and funds for repairs, furniture, and a new truck.

Recommendation Soon In Rhinebeck Dispute

RHINEBECK recommendation sometime in the next few weeks.

The board held a brief 20-minute regular meeting Monday night, and decided to hold its next regular meeting June 21 instead of June 28 because the high school graduation is scheduled for the 28th.

And board members huddled with representatives of the teachers association following community use of the regular business in of executive session. Newly elected board members Albert Vinck and Elinor Letsche had not yet assumed their posts.

Negotiations between the Rhinebeck Board of Education and the Rhinebeck Teachers Association have progressed to fact-finding, according to District Principal Ralph Steeves.

Mediation sessions with a representative of the State Public Employment Board have been conducted with no accord on all issues. The fact-finder is the same representative. He will hear final summations from both parties and issue his

"My dear, now that the war is winding down, how would you like to become Mrs. Establishment?"

Pool Decision Third Major Negro Setback

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decision allowing the closing of public swimming pools in Jackson, Miss., was the third major setback for Negroes in the court in less than two weeks.

Justice Hugo L. Black, author of the majority opinion in the 5-4 decision, went out of his way Monday to caution from the bench that it does not signal approval of "any subterfuge" aimed at weakening school integration.

Still, this month, the court has declared apportionment plans fashioned by federal judges are outside the reach of the 1965 and 1970 voting rights law, that inner-city blacks do not have a right to their own legislative districts and now that Jackson could close its pools to avoid integrating them.

William M. Kunstler, the New York lawyer who had argued before the court the pool closings were "a badge of slavery," described the ruling as "unspeakably tragic" and "proof that black slavery is dead in name only."

Earlier this term the Supreme Court unanimously approved mass busing of public school children to accomplish desegregation and banned job tests that locked blacks into lesser jobs without proving they were disqualified for advancement.

These rulings, Kunstler said in an interview, were in a "meaningless area."

"To blacks," he said, "being kept out of city pools is telling them they are beings of an inferior order. The Supreme Court has given a message to black people that says 'you are slaves.'"

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said "The Supreme Court today made, in my opinion, an illogical and dangerous decision."

Tobias Simon, a civil rights lawyer in Miami, said he was "aghast at the decision."

"The court is proceeding to erase many of the gains that we have fought for over 20 years," he said. "It is getting into the same kind of repressive era that we had in the 1870s and it is going to be hard for everybody."

The direct impact of the ruling was not immediately clear. The question is whether officials elsewhere would attempt to close down pools or other facilities.

In Jackson, Mayor Russell Davis said the ruling may have cleared the way for the city to build 10 new pools. He said the voters might be asked to approve bonds this fall.

Black's opinion rejected any notion the pool closings, following an integration order, were evidence of "willing motivation" against Negroes or illegal "state action" to further segregation.

He said there seemed to be some signs the pools were closed because of ideological opposition to integration. But, he said, there also was substantial evidence the pools were closed because the Jackson city council felt they could not be operated safely and economically on an integrated basis.

"If the time ever comes when Jackson attempts to run segregated public pools either directly or indirectly, or participates in a subterfuge whereby pools are nominally run by private parties but actually by the city, relief will be available in the federal courts," he said.

But Justice Byron R. White, in a lengthy dissent, said the pool closing "was every bit as much an official endorsement of the notion that Negroes are not equal to whites as was the use of state National Guard troops in 1957 to bar the entry of nine Negro students into Little Rock's Central High School, a public facility that was ordered desegregated."

Dayan warned Monday "the resumption of war may be imminent" in the Middle East.

Dayan, who has been taking a public soft-line attitude in recent months, changed his tone sharply in a speech to Hebrew University students in Jerusalem. His words apparently were prompted by the Arab guerrilla attack against an Israeli-bound oil tanker in the Red Sea Friday.

The winds blowing in the Arab capitals tend more towards the resumption of the war than putting an end to it," he said.

He said Israel was more interested in making peace than war, but if a new conflict came Israeli troops could reach the Arab capitals of Cairo, Amman and Damascus.

Dayan said "we will not sit idly by" and let Israeli-bound vessels become sitting ducks. "We are taking the necessary measures and the tankers will reach Eilat."

The 78,000-ton tanker Coral Sea registered in Liberia, was headed for the Israeli port of Eilat when it was attacked by three men in a speedboat firing bazookas. The ship was hit and slightly damaged, but fires started by the bazookas were quickly put out.

Dayan said "we for our part will look after our interests." He did not say exactly what measures were being taken.

IVN Beirut, political sources said Palestinian guerrilla strategy has taken on a new dimension with the attack by the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) on the Coral Sea. They said the PFLP apparently would concentrate its attacks on oil coming from Iran and Saudi Arabia which was destined for Europe via an Israeli pipeline.

Output Generates Little Excitement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sharpest jump in industrial production figures since settlement of the General Motors' strike has generated little excitement among President Nixon's economic advisors.

Despite a seven-tenths of one per cent increase in the Federal Reserve Board's reading of May industrial output, a spokesman for Nixon's Council of Economic Advisors said the jump was only moderately encouraging.

"It's nice to see it up, but I'm not going to go out and get excited about it," the spokesman said.

The one-month boost does not confirm the start of the fast-paced economic expansion sought by the Nixon administration, he said.

The council maintains the industrial production figures shed more light on how well industry is producing, or output per man-hour of workers, instead of the total produced.

The May rise in the index matched the January increase, when output rose sharply because General Motors resumed production after a strike.

Except for January, the May increase was the sharpest since June 1969, when the economy was booming along. Then it reached 171.5 per cent of the 1957-59 average. The new figure is 4.2 per cent below that.

During the early part of the year, industrial production advanced sluggishly, indicating the economy had failed to respond as snappily as President Nixon wanted. But the May jump indicated the pace has picked up.

Even if the President's economic advisors weren't gleeful over the rise, the Treasury Department found some happiness in the index.

"I think it's very encouraging," said Assistant Treasury Secretary Murray Weidenbaum. "It certainly confirms the recovery in the economy is under way."

The index, measuring output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities, showed sharp gains in the production of iron and steel, indicating some stockpiling in the steel industry in advance of a possible strike later this year.

Automobile production also showed another big rise, advancing by 5 per cent over April and reaching an annual rate of 8.5 million units.
